15 COAL DEALERS PUT UNDER OATH

Coal dealers who testified at the hearing before the special coal committee of the Legislature this afternoon on the matter of boosting prices of anthracite were put under oath.

The increase in price in Boston this month was from $13.50 to $16 a ton. There was another increase in August of 50 cents a ton. The committee believes dealers should explain both of them.

Emergency Fuel Commissioner Eugene C. Hultman and Assistant Attorney-General James H. Devlin assisted the committee at the hearing.

Never before have coal dealers been put under oath by a State committee.

Horace G. Knowles Declares on Stand He Saw Her in Wallace's Apartment

New York, Oct. 18 (I.N.S.)—The trump card of W. E. D. Stokes, 73-year-old millionaire, was played today in his suit to divorce his beautiful young wife, Helen Elwood Stokes.

Horace G. Knowles, former United States minister to Rumania, Bolivia and Peru, swore that "to the best of his knowledge and belief" he saw the titian-haired defendant in Wallace's Fifth avenue apartment.

Fourteen other witnesses, mostly negro cooks and servant maids, had testified they had seen Mrs. Stokes in the alleged "love flat" but their testimony had been greatly shaken by Samuel D. Untermeyer, fiery counsel for Mrs. Stokes.

Knowles, a former Delaware attorney, who was in the diplomatic service fifteen years, said he visited the Wallace apartment in 1914 and 1916. He was calling on his friend, Dr. Benson, who lived at the apartment, he testified.

UNTERMYER STUNNED.

"I believe I saw Mrs. Stokes there—to the best of my knowledge and belief," Knowles testified.

Knowles now represents the de facto government of San Domingo, he said. During 1914 and 1915 he lived at the National Republican Club, New York.

Untermyer appeared a bit stunned when he started to cross-examine Knowles—the surprise witness.

Mrs. Stokes' face flushed and she was apparently nervous.

Her aged husband, for the first time since the opening of the trial, had a smile on his face.

Since the time he believed he saw her in the Wallace apartment, the witness said, he had not seen her again until October 1 of this year in the courtroom.

VOLUNTEERED AS WITNESS.

"Was that on October 17" Untermyer asked.

"Yes—the day the case opened," Knowles replied.

On that day Mrs. Stokes was in

HITS CITY OFFICIAL; THREATENS CURLEY

William J. Jennings of Dorchester, former leader of Dorchester American Legion Post and veteran of the Spanish and World Wars, was escorted from City Hall today by Patrolman John Harkins, following a fracas in the basement in which Jennings is alleged to have punched Director Jake Shields of the Municipal Employment Bureau.

Shields took the punch pleadingly and "You'll come back and apologize for this," he said.

Jennings did come back, according to John J. Shaughnessy of the Mayor's staff, but not to apologize. He stormed into the Mayor's office, threatened to whip Shaughnessy and the Mayor and then departed.

According to Shields, Jennings became incensed when told it was impossible to procure employment on the bureau for a relative.

THOUSANDS DELAYED BY "DEAD" CAR IN CHARLESTOWN

Thousands were late to work today when a car on a Boston Elevated train "went dead" between Sullivan square and City square. For more than a quarter of an hour all inbound traffic on the Elevated was at a standstill and the Elevated and tunnel stations were jammed with early morning workers.

At the Elevated station in City square the congestion was so great that passengers were forced to wait down on the street until the lumbering on the structure upstairs had been taken care of by trains hurried from Sullivan square. At North station and all stations along the incoming line the congestion was practically as bad.

GERMANY OFFERS TO PAY $190,000,000 ANNUALLY

Brussels, Oct. 18. (I. N. S.)—Germany made new reparations proposals to Belgium today, offering to pay 800,000,000 gold marks ($190,000,000) annually and to give the allies a participating share in German industry. The offer was contained in a long note dealing with the Belgian reparations plan of June sixth.

Berlin, Oct. 18 (AP).—The government of Saxony, having ignored the ultimatum of General von Mueller, commander of the Reichswehr in that State, the general sent a second letter to Premier Zeigner, saying:

"As you have not thought it fit to answer my letter I beg to inform you I have referred the affair to the Minister of Defence."

BOATS FOUNDER OFF CONEY AS SEA CUTS QUEER CAPERS

New York, Oct. 18.—An unidentified fishing smack broke up in a heavy sea off Coney Island today. Its crew of fifteen men were rescued by a tug. A number of launches that went to the assistance of the smack were tossed to and fro. Some of the rescue craft were believed to have foundered.

A search along the coast for the missing boats was started by Coast Guard and police craft. The sea was turbulent, the high waves dashing under the boardwalk at Coney Island, flooding a number of places on the beach-front.

There was hardly any wind and seamen were puzzled by the strange actions of the deep.

State Outlines Details of How Gang Worked to "Shake Down" Wealthy Men

Love, jealousy, romance and intrigues by members of an alleged blackmail ring will feature the State's prosecution of William J. Corcoran and seven other defendants.

The other defendants are: Michael J. Lyons, J. Warren Kane, Theodore Bearse, Francis Duggan and Leo Corcoran. Mrs. Duggan, the "Theresa" who recanted her testimony against "Bill" Corcoran, was given a chair beside him.

Peggy Purdy and Omar Kaidar, otherwise known as Max Rothschild, were indicted, but have not been arrested.

How they used women—two of whom are in court—to lure wealthy men into apartments, will be told by Lillian Hardy, now known as Mrs. Lillian H. Reese.

Lilly was one of the attractions, the State declares.

Mrs. Theresa Duggan, former wife of Francis Duggan, one of the defendants, was another gem in the crown that was worn, the State charges, by William J. Corcoran and Harry F. Levenson.

Max Korn was the sheep that was led to the shearing, Special Assistant District Attorney Arthur D. Hill declared today as he outlined his case against Corcoran, Levenson, the Duggan woman and others.

In his speech to the jury he intimated for the first time that the alleged blackmail ring included others than those already under indictment.

Money, he charged, was divided between the defendants and others.

He did not state who the "others" might be.

Mrs. Lillian Danforth of Beverly came into Hills description of the case, and she appeared in a role that was new to her, so far as the public is concerned.

"TELL" FOR LILLY.

It appears she was a sweetheart of Max Korn, wealthy Beverly victim.

She lured him to Lilly Hardy's apartment in Cambridge, it will be charged, and introduced him also to Theresa Duggan.

He spent a pleasant evening and went home. But he carried with him a picture of pretty Lilly Hardy. In a word, according to Mr. Hill, Max Korn "fell" for Lilly Hardy.

He visited her several nights later and was aroused from his bed by members of the alleged blackmail ring. They told him to see his lawyer and he did. His lawyer was S. Howard Donnell, former district attorney of Essex county.

Donnell bluffed out the blackmailers and Korn never paid any coin for his evening's entertainment at Lilly Hardy's apartment.

DUPE OF RING.

The Danforth woman is in court, prepared to tell her story. She was a more or less innocent dupe of the ring, it is charged, but later she became an assistant with enthusiasm.

She met Omar Kalder, the Egyptian mystic, and Kalder learned she was "intimate" with Max Korn. He brought her to Boston and accompanied her to a meeting of the ring in the Quincy House, where it was proposed, according to Mr. Hill, that she take part in "shaking down" her wealthy suitor.

She declined to take a personal

Mary C. Danforth Michael J. Lyons

part in the affair, but agreed to lure him into Lilly Hardy's Cambridge apartment.

The two Lillys neither toil nor spin, Mr. Hill declared.

"Mrs. Danforth was not present the night the defendants went to Lilly Hardy's apartment and aroused her and Max Korn," he declared. "Max Korn had fallen out of love with Mrs. Danforth and into love with Lilly Hardy Reese.

AFRAID TO GO THROUGH.

"The last of a series of blackmail attempts by these men failed," said he, "when young Kenneth Merrill, a manufacturer, declined to pay them money and they were afraid to go through with their stuff against him.

He declared the ring fleeced James L. Donovan, wealthy Boston leather merchant, of $35,000 and that they got $15,000 from a man named Curtis, who lives in New Hampshire. Also, he said, the ring collected a sum of money from another man whose name has not been made public.

James L. Donovan is in court. It was Theresa Duggan won't tell how she lured him into the clutches of the alleged blackmailers, he will, the State declares.

Mrs. Duggan, whose former husband is a defendant, recanted her promise to tell the real story of the alleged ring. Inspector John Mitchell had been on her ball for $2,500, and he brought her into court yesterday afternoon. She was required to furnish a new bail for $5,000.

Mrs. Duggan had been regarded as a star witness for the State.

She used a woman's prerogative and changed her mind.

While she was waiting to be called on for a story, nine lawyers for eight defendants were discussing a "method of procedure," which means simply that one lawyer must be selected to act as chief counsel for all the defendants. All cannot talk at once.

Watch the Boston American every day for developments in the Corcoran "blackmail" trial.

EX-DIPLOMAT IS STAR WITNESS FOR STOKES

Chicago, before the Grand Jury, and Steuer came to the witness' aid.

He corrected his testimony to the day the first witness appeared.

Untermyer brought out that Knowles had offices in the same building that Steuer did. Knowles said he volunteered as a witness when he read newspaper accounts of the case.

Asked to fix the approximate date of the time he saw the red-haired woman in the Wallace apartment, Knowles said:

"It was in the latter part of 1914 or early in 1915."

Mrs. Stokes' oldest child was born in Denver on September 11, 1914.

SAW HER TWICE

"I saw Mrs. Stokes twice" Knowles testified. "I would not say more than twice although it may have been five or six times. I saw her once on the stairs."

When he saw her coming up the stairs she stumbled and he noticed her particularly, the witness said. A week later between 10 in the morning and 3 in the afternoon he said, he saw her in the apartment. A week or ten days later he saw her again at the apartment, he said.

"I was sitting in the living room waiting for Dr. Benson and she came in, passed through the room and went into another room closing the door," he testified.

Knowles said he had known Stokes more than a year. Knowles was accused and Max Steuer, Stokes' counsel, attempted to have the testimony of Mrs. McNulty at the 1921 trial board read into the record. Justice Mahoney refused to grant the motion.

Ezariah Epps, negro messenger for the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, while Wallace was an engineer for the concern and brother of Mrs. Martha Jones, cook for Wallace, testified he had seen Mrs. Stokes in the kitchen of the Wallace apartment at Fifth avenue and 29th street.

Samuel Untermyer

Mrs. Stokes

He also said he saw her at the flat where Wallace moved later to No. 13 East 35th street, and again at Bethel, Ct., in company with Wallace and several other women.

Stokes faced new troubles today. Edgar T. Wallace, San Francisco oil man, named by Stokes as the co-respondent who won the affections of Mrs. Stokes, decided to fight back.

After five years of silence, other than a flat denial of Stokes' charges, Wallace today commissioned Charles Erbstein, Chicago lawyer, associated with Samuel Untermyer in Mrs. Stokes' defence, to represent him. Wallace's telegram to Erbstein was brief.

"Take any action you deem best," he instructed the attorney.

OTHER 36 MAY JOIN.

Erbstein announced he would await the outcome of the present divorce suit before moving in Wallace's behalf. It was expected, however, that Erbstein would join Untermyer in a demand on District Attorney J. A. Banton of New York to call a Grand Jury probe of Stokes' activities in the case, with a view of procuring indictments on charges of "conspiracy to defame" not only Mrs. Stokes, but Wallace as well.

It was reported today that the other fifty-six men named by Stokes had under consideration a move against Stokes. Suits, so far, has not brought any man other than Wallace into the present trial.

COAL MEN UNDER OATH AT HEARING

mittee. Witnesses were warned they were not being compelled to testify in case that they may not claim immunity in event of criminal prosecution later.

As the names of the fifteen witnesses were called they were asked if they had increased their price since the coal strike was settled and if they contemplated doing so in the near future. Those who have not done so and do not intend to do so were excused.

NOT SEEKING CHARITY.

"The public does not ask charity, but it is unwilling to be gouged," is the committee's attitude as described in a statement questioning the propriety or justification for the coal boost.

Fifteen of the largest dealers in Metropolitan Boston were requested to appear with papers and other records.

The dealers were: George Batchelder, president, Batchelder Brothers; John A. Whittemore's Sons; Edward Hamlin, president, Metropolitan Coal Co.; Stetson Coal Co.; Mass. Wharf Coal Co.; B. S. Hatch Co.; E. S. Morse Company; Frank T. Hitchcock, treasurer, Staples Coal Company; Wallace Phinney, president, City Fuel Company; Russell K. Pratt, president, Commonwealth Coal Co.; Phillips & Hodgdon, Inc.; D. J. Cutter & Company; Burton-Furber Coal Company; Frost Coal Company; Frost Coal Company, and Locke Coal Company.

The members of the committee are Senator John W. Haigis of Greenfield, chairman; John M. Gibbs of Waltham, Charles P. Howard of Reading, Representative Henry L. Shattuck of Boston, James D. Beatley of Swampscott, William F. Thomas, Jr. of Fall River, Gustave W. Everberg of Woburn, John Mitchell of Springfield and John H. Drew of Boston.

In opening the hearing the committee said:

MUST EXPLAIN RAISE.

"From April 1 to August 1 domestic sizes of anthracite were selling in the Boston district for $15 a net ton. On or about August 1 the dealers in the Boston district increased the price by 50 cents to $15.50 a ton.

"As there has been no increase in mine prices, and no material increase, if any, in freight rates during this period, this 50-cent increase by the dealers of the Boston district appeared to the committee to be unwarranted. The committee accordingly held a hearing on August 9 at which the principal dealers in the district were requested to appear.

"One of these dealers stated that the increase made by him was to cover deliveries of coal purchased after Sept. 1, at which time it was expected there would be an increase in the price of coal at the mines, and that if no such increase took place he would rebate the additional charge of 50 cents to his customers.

"The other dealers furnished the committee with no information which in any measure substantiate the increase in price which they had made.

DEMAND WHOLE TRUTH.

"The public does not ask charity. It is willing to pay a fair price. It is unwilling to be gouged. The two recent increases, aggregating one dollar a net ton, appear to be in part, at least, unwarranted. If they are not unwarranted, the public wants to know why.

"The purpose of this hearing is to get the facts. We want, and the public wants, the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth."

"SALOME" SNUB BY MISS BOSTON

"Salome" won't do her famous dance in Boston, the one in which she vamped John the Baptist, according to ecclesiastical history.

Mayor Curley today announced that Salome, portrayed by Mary Gardon or anyone else, would not be allowed to agitate her slender form for the benefit of Boston theatregoers. It was reported that Mary Garden had announced "Salome" would be one of the attractions staged by the Chicago Opera Company when they open their season here.

Mayor Curley said objections from clergymen, upon which he based his boycott of the show last year, still held good.

Railroads Be Kind
You Might Get Ford
Spirits Don't Write
One a Minute? More

Current Events

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1923, by Star Company.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE asks the railroads, most politely, to treat American citizens as well as they treat foreigners in freight rates on coal.

Learn, dearly beloved, that if you buy coal in Pennsylvania to be shipped to your home in New York or elsewhere in the United States, you pay a certain price for each ton per mile. If an Englishman, Frenchman, or other foreigner ordered the same coal from Pennsylvania to be shipped to New York city, and put on a boat for Europe, he gets a cheaper rate from the American railroads than the American citizen can get.

THE RAILROADS would do well to treat President Coolidge's polite request kindly. They might live to see a President, or a popular movement, that wouldn't be so polite about it.

Of course, there is the side of the railroads. Any railroad president might say: "Of course, why shouldn't we charge more to people in America than to people living abroad? The people in America can't help themselves, we have them where we want them. Foreigners can buy somewhere else, and in this case we are obliged to compete for the business."

THAT SOUNDS reasonable. But it might, in the long run, be a little dangerous, in case the people ever happen to think about their public affairs; or what is more improbable, in case they got a government that considers the people of the United States more important than railroad rates.

SUPPOSE FORD were elected, for instance. What would he do to the railroad rates?

"SPIRIT MESSAGES impress scientists."

The scientists must have been duller than usual or the medium cleverer than usual.

In this case the medium put flowers between white blank cards supplied by the scientists, and pressed them together while ladies prayed. Then, lo and behold! messages were written on those cards and the names of Stead and James, dead gentlemen interested in spiritism.

Most marvelous of all, "the thing was done in broad daylight." Houdin, French magician, would do things ten times as remarkable, and then show you how it was done—also in broad daylight.

LITTLE INDIVIDUALS that get into the hands of high finance, via the bucketshop, got a thorough dose of the medicine chosen. A New York bankruptcy of the bucketshop type shows that customers had in the shop stocks worth ten million dollars.

The financiers in charge of the job sold those stocks in "one big clean-up." But they went right on charging the customers 6 per cent on the stocks that had been sold. Despite they had been sold out customers owe $20,000 in interest. Because customers greatly underestimate Nature's fecundity when he spoke of "One every minute."

UNTO THEM that hath shall be given." Expensive rents in New York and other big cities are coming down. The rents of poor people are going up and there are not rooms enough to house them. Violations of tenement house laws are winked at, because people "must live somewhere," even in firetraps and unhealthy, dangerous structures.

WHILE AMERICAN citizens can actually find no place to live, unless they happen to be rich, you read that in thrice bankrupt Germany thousands upon thousands of houses have been built by the government in order to provide lodgings for everybody.

Perhaps this great republic could learn something from the new German Republic, dreadful as that suggestion may sound to "patriots."

MEN CAPTURED IN LOFT RAID HAVE RECORDS

Records were received at police headquarters today on the five men captured in a Chauncy street loft Tuesday by inspectors from the La Grange Street Station. Four of the men hail from New York and have long police histories.

Samuel Cohen, alias Wolk, alias Walk, has been in trouble eight times since 1913 in New York and New Jersey. He has been a prisoner at Blackwell's Island once and Sing Sing twice. His specialty is safes.

Samuel Miller, alias Marcus, alias Whitney, started in with a robbery in Brooklyn in 1912, and was sent to Elmira Reformatory. He has been arrested nine times since then and has served two "bits" in Sing Sing. Sam is a loft worker.

Benjamin Axel, alias Sacks, alias Ax, beat six "raps" in New York before he finally was convicted, in 1918, of grand larceny. He was sentenced to Sing Sing for two and half to five years.

Frank Wales, alias Botwinick, alias Klin, alias Greenberg, alias Kramer, is a real veteran. Frank was sent to the House of Refuge in 1900 for Grand Larceny. The next year he went to the Elmira reform istory. same charge. He has been in trouble seven times since. In 1909 Frank went to Sing Sing for three years. In 1916 he went to the same place for seven years.

Isadore Rubin, Boston member of the gang, was arrested here on a breaking and entering charge in 1918. He was discharged. Rubin was picked up on suspicion last week in connection with the shooting of Patrolman McGillicuddy.

COST $20 TO HIT FOOTBALL PLAYER

Judge Bruce in Malden Court believes that when football players visit that city they should not be treated any rougher than the game demands.

This was disclosed today when he imposed a $20 fine on Harry A. Brown, caretaker of the Malden High School athletic field, for assaulting Robert A. Mercer, No. 92 Brown street, Brookline, a member of the Brookline High team.

Brown didn't like the slowness with which Mercer and his mates left the dressing room after the Oct. 12 game in which Malden was victorious. Accordingly, he shoved Mercer and other outside and for good measure "cracked" Mercer on the face, cutting the inside of his cheek.

After Mercer and others had told the story, Brown said to the Court: "I guess I used a little more force than was necessary, your honor."

"You treated him too rough, especially for a visitor," replied Judge Bruce.

Brown paid.

SUPREME COURT TURNS DOWN VAN HORN

David Melvin Van Horn of Worcester, because he did not get rid of his "present wife," loses his right to share in the estate of his uncle, George T. Aitchison, according to a decision of the full bench of the Supreme Court.

Van Horn was married in July, 1913, and his wife was living with him when his uncle died in April, 1920. Unknown to him until after Aitchison's death, Van Horn says that the former, on October 2, 1913, made a deed of his estate to Frederick H. Chamberlain in trust. There was a provision in the deed that if Van Horn, at the time of the death of Aitchison, should not be living with his "present wife," he should receive a gift of $3,000.

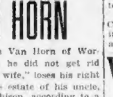
In the Probate Court of Worcester County, Van Horn contended he was entitled to share in the distribution of his uncle's estate, on the ground that the clause in dispute was in restraint of marriage and therefore illegal and void. The judge of probate decided against Van Horn, and the Supreme Court has affirmed the decree.

Judge Braley, who wrote the opinion of the full court, says: "The validity of the gift holds out no inducement to the nephew to separate from his wife. The condition having been valid, the failure of the respondent to bring himself within it deprives him of any share in the trust estate."

8 COMMENDED BY POLICE COMMISSIONER

Police Commissioner Wilson in general orders commended seven patrolmen and a sergeant for work performed in the past two months.

For resuscitating a woman found unconscious by Patrolman Daniel T. Lynch, 3rd, on Allston street lodging house, Lynch, Sergeant Fred H. Bean of the city prison, Richard B. Conroy, Jr., Carl E. Melanson and Joseph M. Walsh, all of Joy street station, were commended.



Patrolman Dan T. Lynch

The others mentioned were patrolmen Walter T. Lindsay of the Joy street station, William T. Hart of East Boston and Edward L. Twohig of Charlestown station.

JURORS IN WEBB CASE PEEVED AT DR. MEYERS' CHARGE

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 18— The Westchester County Grand Jury investigating allegedly suspicious circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Gertrude Gorman Webb, today had its first opportunity to hear Charles H. Webb, husband of the dead woman, explain why he does not think his wife died as a result of foul play.

When Dr. William J. Meyer emerged from the jury room he said the jurors had taken umbrage at his statement yesterday that the refusal of the authorities to permit them to tell his story was such as "they would not dare pull in Russia." Dr. Meyer said "I told them a few facts—all I wanted to tell them, and I read the nurse's state ment and Webb's letters, which I turned over to the Grand Jury."

U.S.-BRED HORSES STRONGEST IN GREAT ENDURANCE TEST

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 18—With the half-way mark passed today in the national horse endurance contest at Avon, and a record set for the number of animals remaining in the running, the contest now narrows to a fight between the East and the West.

Sixteen horses started today, the fourth of the contest. They remain out of the twenty-three that ran the first and second days. The horses are not being pushed and appear in excellent condition.

Norfolk Star, ridden by Captain Herbert Watkins of Wyoming, and Dunwell, a Morgan Horse Club mount from New York City, were the favorites today and expected to come through strong for the finish tomorrow afternoon.

American breeds appear holding up better than the Irish hunters and Arabians.

GIRLS TAKE GOLF STAR'S CAR; HE DECLINES TO PROSECUTE

Miss Alice Drugg and her friend, Miss Merle Labell, waitress at the Newton HoTspital, just couldn't resist the beauty of John Curley's motor car.

They took it while the Dexter Country Club professional golfer was in a bowling alley. They rode away and, this afternoon, bowled back into the hands of the police.

Curley met them at the police station and, after talking with them, declined to prosecute.

"It looked so pretty we just had to take it," said Miss Drugg.

Miss Labell said she was a former chorus girl.

WET CHIEF JOINS MERRY GAME OF BUCK PASSING

Washington, Oct. 18—Prohibition Commissioner Haynes issued a statement today expressing the views on enforcement which are decidedly at variance with those recently expressed by Gov. Gifford Pinchot.

Pinchot said enforcement of prohibition was primarily up to the Federal Government, and "invited" President Coolidge to assume personal command.

Haynes said today responsibility is "first with municipal and county officials."

BAXTER WANTS NAVY TO ATTACK RUM SMUGGLERS

West Baden, Ind., Oct. 18—Governor Baxter of Maine told the Governors' Conference today that two fast destroyers could wipe out rum smuggling along the entire Atlantic coast "in thirty days, if the Navy would attack the problem with true American vigor."

Maine is successful in dry enforcement within its own jurisdiction, Governor Baxter said, but is unable to cope with smuggling operations without assistance from federal authorities.

BELIEVE WOMEN ON JURIES WOULDN'T RAISE STANDARD

Ministers and school teachers should be compelled to do jury duty, Nathan Matthews told the special commission investigating the jury system today. Putting women on juries would not improve the standard of jury service, the former Mayor of Boston declared was his opinion. T. Hovey Gage, Worcester attorney, agreed that women would not raise the standard of service, as he thought only an inferior grade of women would be willing to serve. There would have to be so many special exemptions for them that it would be comparatively easy for women who wished to evade jury duty to do so.

PRICE OF GAS DROPS 3 CENTS IN NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 18—Drastic price cutting in gasoline reached New York with a vengeance. The price was reduced as much as three cents by some companies, while others announced cuts of two. Oil was dropped five cents a quart.

The first announcement was made by the Standard Oil Company and the independents followed immediately. After the gasoline had been reduced the price of crude oil dropped 25 cents a barrel. Filling station prices now range from 18½ to 19½ cents. Gasoline in storage September 1 was 50 per cent. more than it is that day one year ago.

ACCUSES MELLON AT W.C.T.U.

Mrs. Elizabeth Tilton Charges U. S. Treasury Head Is Liquor Trafficker

Brockton, Oct. 18. — The amazing charge that Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon is "indulging in the illicit liquor traffic" was made by Mrs. Elizabeth Tilton of Cambridge today.

It is Mellon and men like him, Mrs. Tilton asserted, shackled by the "shackels of the liquor traffic," who "are every day lessening America's chance to launch on a great new era."

The speaker voiced her accusations in a vigorous speech before the State convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. The assembly hailed her remarks with cheers.

APPEAL TO COOLIDGE.

A motion made by Mrs. Tilton that a letter be sent the President, begging, "in the name of humanity," that the prohibition enforcement unit be removed from the authority of the Treasury Department, was adopted unanimously, with an amendment that a similar letter be sent Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

Mrs. Tilton's speech made a so pronounced impression that talk ensued in the convention hall favoring her election as State president of the Union. She is editor of a magazine devoted to the cause of law enforcement.

"It is the high officials of the nation, men we have elected to honored positions, men in whom we have placed all faith and trust who are seeking to break the backbone of the 18th Amendment," Mrs. Tilton declared.

NAMES MELLON.

"It is men like Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon who are every day lessening America's chance to launch on a great new era, free from the shackles of the foul liquor traffic. I am not afraid of being sued for libel when I make that assertion.

"In a recent raid by dry agents in Philadelphia some of the bottles bore Mellon's name. Think of it, a man who holds one of our most honored names in Federal government, indulging in the illicit liquor traffic.

"Federal Prohibition Enforcement Agent Haynes has been hampered in his work by interference from those contemptible low brokers. His hands are tied and I hope that the convention send a letter to President Calvin Coolidge begging him in the name of humanity to have the prohibition enforcement unit from the authority of the Treasury Department."

A wild scene of enthusiasm followed the speech.

Mrs. Alice H. Rogers of Wollaston was elected to a second term as state president. Miss Lavina A. Jones, Wellesley Hills, was re-elected vice-president at large and Mrs. Ada H. Frisbee of Boston was chosen corresponding secretary for an seventh term.

Mrs. Annie M. Bennett of Brookline, was elected recording secretary, Mrs. Jeannette H. Mann, assistant recording secretary and Mrs. Helen H. Worrell of Brookline as treasurer.

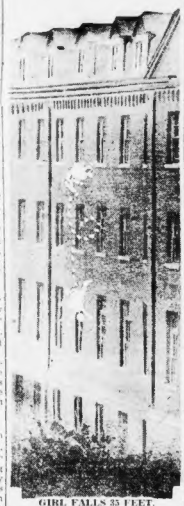
Fatal Plunge



GIRL FALLS 35 FEET.

Anna Esposito of Newton dropped dead when she tried to escape from House of the Good Shepherd.

DASHED 35 FEET TO GROUND

16-Year-Old Girl Killed at House of Good Shepherd Trying to Escape

At the House of the Good Shepherd in Roxbury the lambs of God who stray from the path of righteousness find shelter, food and the helpful prayer of a kind nun.

Come there a few days ago little Anna Esposito of No. 192 Adams street, Newton. Anna is sixteen. In her own little pitiful way she told in halting, broken sentences the old, old story. Sister Euphemia winced as she heard it, even though she had heard it many times from many such childish lips.

Anna Esposito

Then she beckoned Anna in, prayed with her and led her to a spotless ward where are sheltered her little flock.

Early today that little flock slept when the good nun passed through the ward to murmur a few prayers as she placed a cool hand on brows so serene and lovely in sleep.

Came a dull thud in the court yard below. It was the fall of a body. As the nun stood frozen at its sound her eyes rested on an empty cot. It was little Anna's.

They found her, crushed, in the courtyard. She was the lost sheep who had strayed from the flock. Taking two blankets she bade the flock farewell, knotted them together, tied one end to a radiator pipe, threw the other out the window.

Midway her amateurish knots slipped and little Anna fell thirty-five feet to death. Her skull was fractured, her body crushed.

Said Sister Euphemia by her body: "Poor little girl. Why did you do it? You came here voluntarily. You could have left the same way. Maybe God took you because you had tired of repentance."

She reentered the house to pray for the dead.

MOTHER WINS CHILD AFTER COURT SCRAP

The aftermath of a hearing before Chief Justice Hall in Superior Court today over the custody of a child was this:

Sadie McGovern, the child's aunt, had her face slapped.

Her Ma, the kiddies' grandmother, fainted.

A reporter was crushed in the mad scramble over the child.

Ethel Caralon of Dorchester, the kiddies' Ma got the baby.

Caralon recently sued his wife for divorce. He left the home, incidentally, the wife says, taking all the furniture with him. Then he slipped back and took the baby, Eddie, a year and a half, she said.

Into court today came Mrs. Caralon, her sister and her mother. After hearing various stories Chief Justice Hall awarded the child to the mother pending the hearing of her divorce and also ordered Caralon to pay $30 counsel fees and $7 a week for the child's support.

Following the verdict there was a mad scramble for the corridor. From it came the resounding echo of a facial slap.

"He bit me," squealed Sadie McGovern, pointing to Caralon. He dived for the baby. Then Mrs. McGovern jumped and fainted. Through it all went Mrs. Caralon and her sister Ethel by a reporter rubbing barked shins and mourning a crushed hat, the child with his Ma was speeding away in a flivver.

ELIHU ROOT MAY SUCCEED HARVEY

Washington, Oct. 18.—Elihu Root can have the appointment as American ambassador to the Court of St. James, succeeding Colonel George Harvey, if he wants it. That conclusion is expressed by persons in close touch with President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes. Aside from Mr. Root, Solicitor-General Beck is still regarded as the most probable selection.

20-Pound Turtle Eats the Cat and the Chickens

Northboro, Oct. 18. — The world's champion trouble-maker lives near here. How long it will live depends on the patience of Frank H. Kizer, a farmer.

First it appears, Frank captured a turtle weighing twenty pounds. He brought it home. Then the turtle ate the family cat, all except the meows, and attacked the chickens. Then it went industriously in search of eggs. The neighbors are wrathy because of its depredations, and Frank is undecided whether to feed the turtle to the evening soup or cast it forth into the cruel world.

LEGION VETS IN FIGHT OVER KLAN ISSUE

San Francisco, Oct. 18 (I.N.S.).—A report of the resolutions committee assailing "un-American organizations," believed to be aimed at the knights of the Ku Klux Klan, threw the fifth annual convention of the American Legion into a tumult today.

The report scathingly denounced "any organization formed in defiance of the country's constitution, which guarantees equal rights to all regardless of race, creed and color."

Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian and chairman of the all-powerful resolutions committee, appeared confident the report would be adopted.

Other important resolutions reported were:

Refusal to endorse American entry into the International Court of Justice.

Approval of the French occupation of the Ruhr.

Recommendation for a Legion Commission to investigate methods of bringing about world peace.

Suggestion to Congress for the building of a memorial hospital in honor of gold star mothers.

Expression of sympathy for Japan in its earthquake disaster.

Establishment of railway mail service somerly for world war veterans.

Testimonial to President Harding's work.

Stormy scenes behind locked doors marked the deliberations of the committee.

An effort may be made on the floor of the convention by some of the radical opponents of the Klan to amend the resolution by specifically mentioning the Knights.

Texas, Oklahoma and New Jersey delegates were reported to have cast votes in committee against the anti-Klan resolution and three members o fthe committee admitted they were members of the Klan.

Only six voted to name the Ku Klux Klan in the resolution.

URGE "PEEPING TOM" FOR GAS LIGHTING

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 18.—Gas companies should employ "peeping Toms" to walk the mains at night, see how the hopes of customers are lighted and suggest improvement which would bring increased business, Jacob B. Jones of the Bridgeton, N. J. Gas Light Company told the American Gas Association today.

"I know of one manager whose company has thirty-five miles of mains, who had done this for five years," said Mr. Jones.

"He found many instances where the gas lighting could be improved and a service car was sent to each house the next morning. The customer did not know why the service man or the solicitor called but always made him welcome."

MELLON CALLS DEBT BOARD MEETING

Washington, Oct. 18.—Secretary Mellon today called the Debt Commission to meet Saturday, October 20, but declined to disclose what subjects will be considered aside from the commission's annual report.

Asked whether the commission would consider sending "a first of the month statement" to the debtor nations, Mr. Mellon said he had given no thought to that. He recalled that one communication of that nature had been sent to all of the powers more than a year ago and added that he thought it was time for the commission to meet and discuss whatever subjects its members may call up.

Coincident with the call for the meeting it was revealed at the Treasury that a survey had been made of the financial status of all of the foreign powers.

Replying to further questions, the secretary said he had not talked about the debt situation with President Coolidge and did not know the latter's views. He closed the subject by saying he did not approve of "airing" the debt situation in the press.

5 ARRESTED AT LLOYD GEORGE MEETING

Chicago, Oct. 18.—His chief message to America voiced, and recovered from the slight cold and fatigue which kept him idle yesterday, David Lloyd George, war Premier of Great Britain, resumed his itinerary today, going to Springfield, Ill., for a visit to the tomb of Abraham Lincoln and an address there.

Policemen stood at every door of the great building in which Mr. Lloyd George spoke and, as the crowd gathered, even newspapermen encountered difficulty in entering. A great crowd stood outside in the rain to hear the former Prime Minister's speech brought them by voice amplifiers.

Three men and two women, charged with creating a disturbance by passing out handbills relating to the freedom of Ireland, were arrested prior to the meeting.

The handbills contained questions regarding Ireland which Lloyd George was urged to answer and at the bottom were printed the names of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic and the United Irish Society of Chicago.

WARNS SPEED FANS THEY WILL OVERTAKE FUNERAL

The Safe Roads Federation, highway branch of the Massachusetts Safety Council, broadcast today a slogan for October, as its part of the campaign that Frank A. Goodwin, the State registrar of motor vehicles, has organized to check the month's accidents.

"What's your hurry; you'll only overtake your own funeral," is the slogan.

FIFTEEN TOURISTS KILLED IN MOROCCAN BUS CRASH

Casa Blanca, Morocco, Oct. 18 (I.N.S.)—Fifteen persons were killed and 11 injured when a motor bus carrying 75 passengers, fell into a mountain ravine near here today.

CAMBRIDGE BOY WRONGFULLY ARRESTED

William F. Grant, of No. 292 Broadway, Cambridge, who, during the roundup of Thomas ("Peanuts") Galligan, "boy bandit" of Cambridge, and six of the latter's companions, last Sunday night, was taken along with the gang, on the charge of disturbing the peace, was found not guilty and discharged by Judge Counihan in the Third District Court, East Cambridge.

"I never had any connection with the gang," Mr. Grant told the Boston American. "I simply know them as anyone else in the district does, but I did not associate with them, nor have anything to do with them.

INNOCENT BYSTANDER.

"Last Sunday night, I came out of the house just at about the time the raid by the police took place. I was taken in by the police by mistake with the rest and taken to Station 3, East Cambridge, on the charge of disturbing the peace, notwithstanding I have always been quiet and lawabiding.

"I obtained bail and when the case came up before Judge Counihan and we were tried collectively, I easily proved I had no connection with the gang, was found not guilty and discharged.

IN WRONG LIGHT.

"The unfortunate occurrence has placed me in a wrong light, inasmuch as I am about to take a civil service examination and do not wish to have a wrong impression created through any mistake by the police."

Young Grant is employed as a chauffeur. He is the son of William R. Grant and bears a good reputation among those who know him.

STOLE GAS AND PUT LIVES IN DANGER

John Gabriel of Ohio street, South End, was sentenced to three months in jail today for stealing gas from the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and for unlawfully making a gas connection. Judge Sullivan reprimanded the man severely, as the evidences showed that the connection made by Gabriel was faulty and experts testified that in another day the piping would have broken and flooded the tenement with gas fumes.

FOOD RIOTERS SHOT DOWN IN GERMANY

Mannheim, Germany, Oct. 18 (A.P.)—Six to eight persons are reported dead and many others wounded in food riots at Mannheim, Baden. Frequent clashes occurred between the demonstrators and the police. The trouble was the outgrowth of the high prices of food, resulting in a general strike and the cutting off of the water, gas, electric and street car service. A state of siege was declared by the police.

Chancellor Stresemann

Gelsenkirchen, Ruhr Valley, Oct. 18 (A.P.)—A mob of women badly damaged the Administration Building of the Mannesmann Iron Works here. The assault was in protest against the non-payment of wages due the women's husbands. The officials of the works pleaded lack of currency. The women raided food shops and visited nearby farms searching for food, in one instance seizing a peasant's cow, pigs and chickens.

Paris, Oct. 18 (I.N.S.)—The Cabinet today, with President Millerand presuming, unanimously approved Premier Poincare's rejection of the suggestions made yesterday by Herr Von Hoesch, German Charge D'Affaires.

Berlin, Oct. 18 (I.N.S.)—Ominous clouds gathered low over Germany today.

Pessimism has been deepened by French and Belgians' summary rejection of Chancellor Stresemann's latest reparation proposals.

Grave disorders are reported from various quarters. Red terror grips Saxony and reinforcements of Reichswehr were rushed there.

Bavaria, threatened by Saxon Communists, is up in arms.

The Saxon government is openly defiant of Berlin. Minister of Finance Boettcher, in a fiery speech at Dresden, declared that "Red dictatorship is the only salvation of Germany."

President Ebert and Chancellor Stresemann are doing all in their power to hold the Reich (State) together and to prevent the nation from breaking up into small States. There are several cross-current movements under way, all aiming at secession.

FEDERAL DRIVE TO CLOSE ALL N. Y. SALOONS

New York, Oct. 18.—United States Attorney Hayward today filed fifty-four injunction and common nuisance suits in Federal Court, under the Volstead Act, to close alleged wet saloons, cafes, restaurants and cabarets in this city.

Mr. Hayward issued this statement:

"I have filed this morning fifty-four injunction suits asking for the closing of that many saloons now running open in the borough of Manhattan.

"This is the first of a series of similar actions which will be commenced as rapidly as the clerks can get out the papers, the clerk of the district court can file them and the marshal can serve them.

"Since the repeal of the Mullan-Gage act, prohibition agents acting under the supervision of my assistant, Major S. H. Clark, have been making a survey of all the places in which arrests have been made since the Volstead Act went into effect. The police have cooperated by giving us lists of all arrests made by them under the Mullan-Gage act."

In describing the scope of the dry offensive, Mr. Hayward said he had a locality card index of some 1,100 open saloons.

"These saloons are of the old type. Drinks are sold quite openly—10 cents for near beer, 20 to 25 cents for real beer and 25 to 50 cents for what passes for whiskey.

"The old saloons have taken a new lease of life since they defeated the efforts of the State of New York to put them out of business, and this great State has surrendered to them."

BOSTON POLICE FORM FIRST RIFLE CLUB

Take off your hat to Boston's police department.

It is the first department in the United States to organize a rifle club and become affiliated with the National Rifle Association of America. It is also one of the few departments to be equipped with:

Machine guns, army rifles, riot guns, gas bombs, gas masks and bullet-proof vests.

There arrived today at police headquarters 240 government rifles shipped by the War Department at Washington. They are part of the equipment for the new rifle club organized by the department's rifle expert, Lieutenant Louis Lutz.

He will drill 600 policemen in the art of sharpshooting. They comprise twenty rifle clubs. They will practice at Fort Standish, Boston Harbor. Also in the new Milk street police station, now under construction, a rifle range having already been installed there.

The cops who qualify as experts can take part in the annual shoot of the National Rifle Association at Camp Perry, Ohio.

'OLD NEW YORK' ACCLAIMED AS WONDER FILM

Probably never in the history of motion picture presentation on Broadway has a photoplay or a screen star received such wholehearted appreciation from critics of the motion picture trade papers, as well as the Metropolitan dailies, as have "Little Old New York," and its star, Marion Davies.

Marion Davies

The photoplay, which has been one of the sensations of the current season, Monday started on the last week of its brilliant engagement at the beautiful new Cosmopolitan Theatre on Columbus Circle. During its long run of twelve weeks it has received more brilliant press notices than have probably ever before been accorded a film.

Writing in the Moving Picture World, Charles S. Sewell said the picture and star the following tribute:

IN CLASS BY ITSELF.

"Around a simple little romance rich in heart interest, pathos and delightful humor Cosmopolitan has, in 'Little Old New York' builded a picture that ranks high as a screen achievement, and it is in many respects in a class by itself.

"Here is one of the big pictures of this or any other year—big from a production standpoint despite the absence of the massive and spectacular; big in the simplicity and directness of its beautiful heart-interest story; big in appeal and general entertainment value.

"Starring Marion Davies, although of a different type from 'When Knighthood Was in Flower,' it has been given just as painstaking a production, with the same infinite attention to detail in costumes, settings, etc., and the same historical accuracy.

"With the action set in New York city when it was but little more than a village, there is no opportunity for big spectacular display, but this in itself furnishes an ideal setting for the charming little romance and picturesque backgrounds. It was necessary to reconstruct entire city blocks that had long since passed away, and the manner in which this was done excited admiration. So perfect is the illusion and so finely has the atmosphere of the period been caught that the spectator feels that he is being actually carried back to those by-gone days.

"Many characters are introduced whose names are household words. John Jacob Astor is shown as a fur and piano merchant; Cornelius Vanderbilt as mortgaging his ferry boat to help Robert Fulton build the first successful steamship, and there are many others, including Delmonico, who has just opened a small lunchroom.

WHIPPED AT POST.

"Robert Fulton, making a test run of the first successful steamboat, produces a real thrill and a feeling of patriotism. There is also a thrill of another sort, strong in pathos, where the heroine, because she stopped a prize fight, is lashed at the whipping post by an angry mob until she can stand no more and blurts out the fact that she is a girl.

"There is a prize-fight scene differing widely from present ring tactics, with its fight between two unevenly matched opponents that it borders on burlesque, and introduces many laughs.

"Marion Davies gives a wonderful performance, excelling even her work in 'Knighthood.' Situations easy to overplay she handles with force and naturalness; and, though you never lose sight of the fact that she is a girl masquerading as a boy, this increases the appeal of her performance. Harrison Ford is excellent in the role opposite the star, and, in fact, the work of the large cast, too numerous to mention separately, is uniformly fine.

"From a pictorial standpoint, the product is superb, with a succession of picturesque backgrounds producing exquisite effects.

"Magnificently produced, artistic without being highbrow, this picture will appeal to the best classes in your community and answer the challenge of those demanding 'better' films. It will also satisfy those who want heart interest, thrills and pathos intermingled with humor, and especially those who are curious about life in by-gone days in little old New York."

FORD HAS BIBLE IN EVERY ROOM

Duluth, Oct. 18.—"If Henry Ford is nominated he will be the next President of the United States." Dr. William Stidger, rector of St. Mark's Methodist Episcopal Church of Detroit declared in a lecture here.

Mr. Stidger is well acquainted with Mr. Ford and declared Mr. Ford "has a Bible in every room in his house and he reads the Bible every day."

Downington, Pa., Oct. 18.—George Kerr, a member of the firm of Kerr Paper Mills Company, died today from injuries received when he was gored by a bull two days ago. Kerr, a breeder of fancy Holstein cattle, was just opening a stall for the animal when it turned on him.

STAYS WELL ON 10-YEAR DEAL WITH DOCTOR

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—Five years have now elapsed since Samuel M. Vauclain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, made a contract with a physician to keep him in good physical condition for ten years.

Mr. Vauclain said today he agreed to pay a flat sum every year for being kept well, increasing this sum each year on the assumption that the older he grows the more difficult it will be for him to keep well.

Under the contract, if Mr. Vauclain falls sick a deduction is made from the doctor's retainer according to the length of time of his illness.

"I have been sick," he said, "and I didn't like it. I did not want it to happen again. Since the inception of this contract I have kept my part of it and my doctor has kept his, except once or twice.

"I have been examined every two weeks and have guided myself entirely by the doctor's instructions. In that time I have not lost a day from business, nor have I been ill in any way. I am heavier, stronger and more active than I was five years ago."

LANGHORNE GIRL TO MARRY BRITON

New York, Oct. 13.—Miss Alice Perkins, daughter of the eldest of the five famous Langhorne sisters of Virginia, and niece of Lady Astor, is to be the bride of the Hon. Reginald Winn, third son of the late Lord and Lady St. Oswald, of Nostel, Yorkshire, England. The engagement was made public today by Miss Perkins' sister, Mrs. A. Ronald Tree, of this city.

The other Langhorne sisters, beside Viscountess Astor, and also aunts of Miss Perkins, are Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson of New York and Mrs. Paul Phipps and Mrs. Robert H. Brand of London. Miss Perkins' mother, Mrs. T. Moncure Perkins, died in her Richmond, Va., home in 1914.

The Hon. Reginald Winn was born in 1893 and served through the war as a lieutenant of the Fifth Grenadier Guards. He is a brother of Hon Charles J F Winn, who married in July, 1919, the Hon. Olive Cecilia Paget, daughter of Baron Queenborough and the late Pauline Whitney, who was sister of Mr. Harry Payne Whitney.

By BETTY ALDEN

FROM slender bud to stately dowager, they all stood nobly by Mrs. S. Huntington Wolcott during the three-day sale at Jay's, when the Children's Hospital received 20 per cent. of all the money taken in.

It was an occasion when everyone seemed to want to help, and Mrs. Wolcott had a willing and eager corps of assistants each day of the sale.

Dropping in on Tuesday I noticed Miss Anna Thorndike, daughter of Dr. Paul Thorndike, who has done some splendid work with Anne Morgan in the devastated regions of France. Receiving a host of greetings from many friends who dropped in at the shop was pretty Mrs. George Richmond Fearing, 3d (Vera Howell), who was scheduled to be a debutante of this season, but became a bride last June instead. The young people spent their honeymoon abroad, and are now settled in a cottage on the Fearing estate in Westwood, I believe.

Also in the group of workers was Miss Rebecca Williams, a petite brunette, who is to make her debut in Boston this season. She is the daughter of Mrs. Robert W. Locke of Morristown, N. J., but this Winter they are spending in the Hub at the Abbotsford. Miss Williams is a sister of Henry Ladew Williams, whose engagement to Margaret ("Pit") Williams of Dedham caused a considerable flutter of interest when it was announced last May.

A few of the others helping on Tuesday were the Misses Ellen Lovering, Alice Herrick, Hannah Hallowell and Lorraine Leeson—all of them buds of this season, and Mesdames William S. Patten (Anne Thayer), Dudley R. Howe and Philip Saltonstall, Jr. Others there were the Misses Beatrice Jones, Jeannie Dupee and Harriet Royce.

MISS MARY KEYES will be introduced to society at a ball which her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Keyes of Beacon street, are giving for her at the Somerset on January 3.

APROPOS of the affair at Jay's, among Mrs. Wolcott's helpers yesterday—the last day of the sale—were the Misses Penelope and Margaret Curtis. They have just recently returned to Boston, following a trip around the world with their mother, Mrs. Edwin U. Curtis. Miss Margaret Curtis will make her debut this Winter.

Miss Penelope was presented to society several seasons ago and since then has taken a prominent part in the activities of her set. She is a member of the Vincent Club and the Sewing Circle.

MR. AND MRS. JONATHAN BROWN, 3D (Katherine Greeley) are back from their wedding journey and are now established at their home at No. 933 Charles River road, out Cambridge way. Mrs. Brown is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Frost Greeley.

"Oh, my fur and whiskers!"

Alice rubbed her eyes. She knew there was something queer. Suddenly she realized that she had never seen a rabbit with a watch before. Neither have we, but we believe firmly if a rabbit had an appointment with a duchess he would need a watch.

For a watch is a necessity to any person who has to depend upon himself to keep engagements of any sort. Not many years after a child leaves the nursery, a reliable watch is a part of the equipment he needs in his daily life.

A watch must have a good movement. The case may be governed by personal preferences and purse limitations.

So we endeavor to carry all the good makes of American and foreign watches in a number of styles in silver, gold, platinum, and jewel-mounted.

We adjust every watch to keep accurate time upon the person of its owner. The tempo of people differs, and for accuracy it is most important that the watch be adjusted to suit the person who wears it.

Never packed in anything but glass

"All queen olives are stuffed olives but Spanish Green Olives."

They contain 1400 calories to the pound—more than white bread, which has but 1215.

You will always find the finest of appetizers packed in the finest of containers—glass. For glass is the cleanest, most attractive and most sanitary of containers—the most satisfactory in which to pack Spanish Green Olives.

In these delightfully transparent bottles, the salty, tangy fruit stands out to delight your eye, and later to pacify your taste. Choose either the plain olives or those that are stuffed with delicious Spanish sweet peppers. Both are equally delicious.

Plain or stuffed, they are Spanish Green Olives. Or, as they are more generally known, Spanish Queen Olives. For every queen olive is a green olive.

Spanish Green Olives are good for you. The olive oil in them is healthful and nourishing. Children may eat all they want.

Spanish Green Olives make wonderful salads and sandwiches. Use them as garnishes, too. Or serve them by themselves. Either the plain or stuffed Spanish Green Olives would be a welcome delicacy at dinner tonight. Buy a bottle or two today.

KLAN SPREADS AS DRY LAW FAILS, HUTTON

R. P. Hutton, state superintendent of the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League, today charged the rapid growth of the Ku Klux Klan in this state to weakness of law enforcement.

Speaking before the state convention of the W. C. T. U. at Brockton, Mr. Hutton urged that those favoring the enforcement of the prohibition law go before judges, juries, legislators and other officials and let their presence be known.

"Ku Kluxism is a desperate effort to unofficial force for protection from official weakness said Mr. Hutton. "The weakness of law enforcement in Massachusetts would drive any people to madness, but the Ku Klux are mistaken in their methods.

"When a liquor law breaker is brought into court the room is usually filled with his friends whose presence shouts aloud for acquittal, while the prosecutor is the sole evidence of the community's desire for law.

"If the hooded knights of the Ku Klux Klan would sit in the court room with their faces bare, giving visible evidence of the popular demand for law enforcement, they would get better results.

"If we have weak prosecutions and weaker sentences, inevitably people will attempt to take the law into their own hands. We must back up the good official; jack up the poor official. Then there will be no excuse for the unofficial.

"President Coolidge stands for law and law enforcement. Massachusetts owes it to him to make good on enforcement. The country will judge him by results in his own State."

JAIL 2 AFTER 6 PERISH IN FLAMES

New York, Oct. 18.—A sensational aftermath of a fire which early last Monday destroyed a Brooklyn home and caused the death of six persons came today with the arrest of William A. Ford, a real estate broker and son-in-law of one of the fire victims, and Raymond Anderson on charges of murder and arson.

A third man, James R. Lynch, an accountant, was held as a witness, and a fourth, whose identity is known to the police, was being sought as an accomplice.

Ford is the son-in-law of George Keim, playwright, whose death in the fire came on the eve of the production of his first play, accepted after years of endeavor.

The arrests followed an all-night grilling of the prisoners by Fire Marshal Brophy, who declared he had obtained a confession from Anderson. Hi-feeling between Keim and his son-in-law was said to have existed for several years, according to Brophy, and Keim, it was understood, was to have appeared in a Hempstead, L. I., court to testify against Ford in an assault case the day of his death.

Howard, acting president of the International Typographical Union. It was stated, $16,009,912.43 had been collected by the union for strike purposes and $14,834,197.51 had been expended. Sixty-eight cities continue to be affected by the strike.

AIR FLIVVERS ARE NEXT; FORD THINKING ABOUT 'EM

Farmingdale, N. Y., Oct. 18 (AP)— Henry Ford, who speckled the earth with flivvers, has ideas that may fill the air with them.

Mr. Ford's theories on the future of the air "Lizzies," as heard by Lawrence Sperry, American father of the flying flivver, were reported by Sperry today on his return from a 2,000 mile trip in his tiny plane, a standpoint of quantity production.

the Messenger, with a wing spread of only twenty feet.

Sperry said Ford was impressed by the fact that a flying flivver could go further on a gallon of gas than an earth flivver.

The motor with which the Sperry flivver is equipped interested Ford and he viewed it, Sperry said, from year-old son, was going for noting.

HOWLS OF 65 HOUNDS RUIN MUSICAL PRODIGIES

New York, Oct. 18.—The musical traits of sixty-five dogs Joseph Oller keeps in his East Side tenement may result in their master going to jail.

Mrs. B. Rubenfeld, a neighbor, hailed Oller into court today, asserting that her hard-earned money, used for training the voice of her eight daughter.

The court ordered Oller to get rid of sixty-four of the dogs or go to jail.

"Every time the boy begins to sing, the dogs join in the chorus," lamented the mother.

Another woman complained that the canine chorus was ruining the pianoforte technique of her young

EXPERTS SEARCH FOR FRAUD IN FLORAL SPIRIT MESSAGES

ANALYZE MANY ROSE-PINK AND HELIOTROPE WRITINGS RECEIVED BY WOMAN MEDIUM

New York, Oct. 18.—The Rev. Mrs. Josie K. Stewart, spiritualist who startled the world of science two days ago by procuring written messages in a daylight seance in a Long Island flower garden, was to have a second test today before the skeptical scientists when she "does her stuff" indoors.

The scientists represent the Scientific American which has offered $2,500 to the producer of genuine psychic phenomena. It was with this goal in view that the plump little spiritualist, who in her own home town, Cleveland, is pastor of a church, performed so magically two days back when on cards sandwiched between rose petals and other petal covers procured messages in multi-colored writing.

CARDS ARE TESTED.

These cards were today being examined chemically and microscopically by Mr. Doubting Thomases in the world of scientific research who apparently all hail from Missouri. Marshaled by J. Malcolm Bird the members of the sub-committee were putting the flower writing through a series of laboratory tests.

"The judges," said Mr. Bird, "would be willing to be quoted as saying that if the production of the writing were a fraud they feel certain that no other method than substitution of the cards could be employed."

Mr. Bird disclosed that a chemical analysis of the cards was in progress and that the aim of the chemist would be to ascertain the material used in the writing. In addition, a microscopic test was made to ascertain if the writing had been deposited in normal fashion from a writing instrument.

LOOK LIKE CRAYON.

"The medium," said Mr. Bird, alluding to the Rev. Mrs. Stewart, "has called our attention to the fact that people have claimed that her writings look like crayon. She says that she knows what they look like, but that she doesn't know what they are. We are endeavoring to find out what they are. It seems to us that if it is a fraud that it involves the substitution of previously prepared cards."

Included in the methods being brought to bear on the firmly written lines that appeared as if by magic on the cards at the front-yard seance, was a spectroscopic examination.

"It is possible" remarked Mr. Bird, indicating that it wasn't also probable, "that our tests may show ectoplasm in the writing.

It was Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, discoverer of ectoplasm, who brought Mrs. Stewart to the attention of the Scientific American investigating committee as an aspirant for the $2,500. When the creator of Sherlock Holmes was in Cleveland he read through Mrs. Stewart's album of testimonials and thought that she should be subjected to a thoroughly scientific test.

In discussing the opinions of some persons that substitution of cards might account in some cases for the production of the independent writing, Mr. Bird pointed out that in the case of Mrs. Stewart the cards had been furnished by the investigators.

He stressed the difficulty that one might experience in matching up cards so that their size and weight would be identical. He admitted, of course, rather readily, that there might be twins now and then in the index cards.

"Investigators," he said, "proceeding on the theory of substitution of cards, would go ahead under a certain degree of embarrassment. Assume that investigators found that the writing appeared to be quite different from the fluid that would be produced in squeezing flower petals and that the cards were found to be of different size—Spiritualists would advance the claim that the phenomena were still genuine. It would be a difficult matter to break down the convictions of a true Spiritualist on proof of that type.

SLATE-WRITING PHENOMENA.

"There is no connection between the phenomena created by Mrs. Stewart and the slate-writers. In the case of slate-writing a slate pencil is inclosed between the two slates and those at the seance can hear the the slate pencil scratching away. Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, principal research worker for the American Society for Physical Research, has seen many slate-writers, but none that impressed him as genuine. Mrs. Stewart, however, works in the daylight and does not use any writing instrument."

Mr. Bird disclosed that throughout the test on the Wayburn lawn motion pictures were taken of the author in action. A motion picture camera of a type small enough to be carried in a man's pocket was operated by one of the investigators on the theory that the "camera is faster than the eye." Developmentof the film is expected to be completed this afternoon.

Perfect Noses

BEST IN AMERICA

Charles E. Hughes and Mary Pickford, said by Dr. Henry J. Schireson to have the best-looking noses in America.

OUR MARY AND HUGHES HAVE BEST NOSES

New York, Oct. 18.—The most perfect noses in America repose upon the faces of Mary Pickford and Charles Evans Hughes. Miss Pickford is a well known motion picture actress and Mr. Hughes is Secretary of State of the United States.

This statement was made today by Chicago's prominent nose specialist, Dr. Henry J. Schireson, who is not only a proboscis prestidigitator but a crosseye corrector, cauliflower carpenter and wrinkle wrecker as well. The doc can make Bull Montana look like Little Lord Fauntleroy.

"Miss Pickford," said Dr. Schireson, who is in New York for several operations, "has not only the most perfect nose but the most perfect Cutie nose. The only character in mythological history whose nose most nearly approaches her nasal pulchritude is Diana, Goddess of the Chase."

Miss Grace Kline, a vaudeville performer, is second to Mary in nose perfection.

"As for Secretary Hughes," added the nose sculptor, "his nose is of the perfect Grecian type. The late President Harding also had a wonderful Roman nose."

WASHINGTON WINS CONGREGATIONALISTS

9 WOMEN SAVED IN FIRE AT HAVERHILL

Haverhill, Oct. 18.—Nine women were rescued from the Academy of Music apartments partly destroyed by fire today with a loss of $20,000. They were carried down ladders by firemen.

One, Miss Elizabeth B. Tayne, proprietor of a beauty parlor on the ground floor, screamed when firemen awakened her in her suite upstairs and rushed her to the street in silken pajamas. She had $200 cash in a drawer in her beauty parlor. Firemen found it in the ruins and returned it.

Three firemen were overcome and taken to their homes. They were Lieutenant George A. Walker and Hosemen Homer Whiting and Albert Yaite. They suffered from smoke.

The blaze in the heart of downtown Haverhill tied up traffic on Merrimack street, the city's main thoroughfare, for almost two hours. Firemen were forced to park their apparatus there owing to How street, where the academy apartments are located, having been partially shut up.

It took two hours to extinguish the blaze.

him ten times as much space as they would have given to a first-class scientist. This proves that we recognize merit, for Mr. Donoghue comes here to ride the race horse Papyrus, and THAT is really worth while.

THE NEW YORK TIMES, for instance, gives about three times as much space to Donoghue, the jockey, as to Eleanora Duse, the greatest living actress, a woman of extraordinary genius and power. Both came on the same boat.

THE BRITISH have common sense and financial courage. To help solve their great problem, unemployment, they appropriate $250,000,000 for public works. Seventy million dollars go to new roads and bridges, fifty million for local improvements, sixty millions to finance various trade enterprises, seventy-five million for development of railroads. There is on earth plenty of money, plenty of work, plenty of employment, where government uses its power as an individual would use it.

PRINCESS HERMINE, married to the former Kaiser, says he is "so loveable, so dear and good, and by no means wedded to his own opinions."

The last part of that you believe easily. One of his own opinions used to be that God had chosen him to manage destinies of the earth. He must be thoroughly divorced from that opinion, by now.

MUNRO FAVORS BIG COUNCIL-AT-LARGE

The trend in municipal government in the largest cities of the country, Prof. William B. Munro of Harvard today told the legislative commission on the revision of the Boston charter, is toward a city council-at-large, to diminish the powers of the council, to increase those of Mayors and to increase the pay of city councilors.

In his opinion, the Boston budget system requires no great change. The city charter, with the municipal finance act, applicable to other cities of the State, has put Massachusetts in the front rank of States so far as municipal finance is concerned.

While proportional representation in city councils has many advocates, he advised that the commission defer recommending it for Boston until it has been tried out in Cleveland. He said the system works best where there is party designation for candidates and party responsibility as a basis and has not worked satisfactorily where there is no party designation, as is the case in Boston.

Mrs. Hilda Hedstrom Quick, chairman of the legislative committee of the League of Women Voters, said the league favors proportional representation in a city council of fifteen, elections in odd-numbered years coincident with the State election, a school committee of nine instead of five and recall of the Mayor at the end of two years by a majority vote.

SEES INTELLIGENCE TEST FOR MARRIAGE

Madison, Wis., Oct. 18.—Passing of an intelligence test as a requirement for marriage can be looked for within ten or twenty years, Professor E. A. Ross of the University of Wisconsin faculty and nationally known sociologist, said today. "Native intelligence itself, apart from education or other acquired knowledge, should be sought in the tests," he added.

SUES JOLSON FOR $250,000 ON GRIFFITH CONTRACT

New York, Oct. 18.—Obtaining a contract with David Wark Griffith to star Al Jolson in a motion picture was worth $250,000.

This amount was set in a suit here by Anthony Paul Kelly against the comedian.

Kelly declares he got Jolson a contract with Griffith to star him in a series of "Black Face" comedies.

Jolson worked in part of one comedy and signed the dough making contract by walking out of the Griffith studios on Long Island after he had seen two reels of the picture in which he was starred.

LAUGH AT GOLF PLAYER! WHY, THEY'LL JAIL YOU!

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Razzing a golfer is sinful.

This was decided officially today when Judge Joseph Lafluy warned I. B. Pickard, arrested for laughing at the efforts of golfers on the public links in Lincoln Park.

"A golfer," explained the judge, whose handicap at sentry, "must have conditions and surroundings such that he concentrates on his stroke. Laughing at a player is a grave offense."

KEMAL STRIPS TURKS OF OLD-TIME MEDALS

Constantinople, Oct. 18.—A commotion among officials and former officials was caused here by an order from Angora throwing into the discard all decorations conferred by former Turkish governments, whether worn by Turks or by foreigners. It does not apply to decorations given by foreign governments. The only medal authorized by the Kemalist administration hereafter, is the "Order of Independence," but even that must be worn alone.

The war office has decreed also that the costume of civilian officials at all public functions shall be the frock coat, waistcoat and trousers.

RADICALS PLAN DRIVE TO OUST POINCARE

Paris, Oct. 18.—The twentieth annual congress of the Radical Socialist and Radical parties known as the Moderate Left [illegible] Chamber of Deputies opened here today. Former premiers and [illegible] cabinet ministers are among the delegates.

The congress is expected to elaborate a program and platform, which, if successful in the [illegible] elections, will change the entire aspect of France's foreign policy. The fundamental principles underlying the platform are the adoption of peace a la [illegible] rather than coercive measures toward Germany, rejection of [illegible] ful schemes, whether from the Right or Left, and elimination of [illegible] toward Fascism, militarism and Bolshevism.

The parties repudiate the Communist members of the Extreme Chamber as well as the moderate and united Socialists who [illegible] to unite with the Right, some of the Left of whom the most prominent are former Premiers Briand and Painleve.

New York—The Kronland, 22,[illegible] tons, will become service today for the first time since the war between New York and California via Panama and Panama Canal. Fortnightly sailings with the steamships Finland and Manchuria will be established under the direction of the Panama Pacific line.

G. O. P. BLAMED FOR MERCHANT MARINE LOSS

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

Washington, Oct. 18. (C.N.S.)—The power of Uncle Sam to develop a merchant marine by granting a [illegible] preferential duty to all goods shipped in American vessels was snatched out of the Fordney-McCumber tariff by the Republican administration, Robert A. Dean, former general counsel of the United States Shipping Board, said today.

Mr. Dean [illegible] the Jones [illegible] American merchant [illegible] operated. He hoped to [illegible] which Congress [illegible] the President to notify [illegible] nations with which this country has trade compacts that it proposed to give a favorable duty to merchants who would transport their goods in American ships.

President Wilson refused to serve that notice upon them. The late President Harding refused despite a campaign pledge. Secretary Hughes now has advised President Coolidge that he has no right to do it.

Section 34 requested the President to serve notice of his intention to grant the preferential duty. The last Democratic tariff provided the President could grant a duty as high as 10 per cent. Mr. Dean said that when the Fordney-McCumber bill was written the definite amount of preference was left out.

Whether the international mercantile interests were on the lookout as usual to strike down all benefits intended for American ships is a matter which Mr. Dean has as yet been unable to verify.

Regardless of what Secretary Hughes tells the President this country still has power to serve notice upon the thirty foreign governments that he intends to grant a preference duty to our country's ships, Mr. Dean declared.

"Since we abolished preferential duties, our shipping has declined. In 1921 we carried about 40 per cent, last year 34 per cent, and this year's records will show a further drop.

"Do we want a merchant marine? In order to have one we may have to work some hardship upon our competitors. Isn't it about time that we started to take care of ourselves a bit?"

$1,500 FIRE LOSS TO UPHOLSTERY FIRM

Someone That Ain't Got None Wrote Baby Schedule, Says Winthrop Dad

Dear Mr. Editor:—I notice two news items of great interest to me in today's American, so I am writin' you post haste, as it were.

One is that down in Florida a judge sentenced a guy named "Drunken Bill" to be sprayed with rain for ten days and I am makin' preparations to move the family to Florida immediately.

The other article is about Babies and was evidently wrote by somebody who ain't got none or else they would have wrote it different. For that it tells how to take care of babies and give the following program: 7 a. m.—Baby's bath. 7:30 a. m.—Breakfast. 8 a. m.—Play hour. 11 a. m.—Short rest. 12:30 p. m.—Noonday meal. 2 p. m.—Play hour again. 5 p. m.—Light supper. 6 p. m.—Bed time. Further on it says that the mother personally should cook the baby's food, scrub the pans, etc., and that the play time for the kiddies should also be under the mother's supervision.

SERVANTS FUSSY.

Outside of the bath all I see on the program is cookin' an' pawin' so you might as well have wrote that the Missus should spend each day with the kids. And if my Missus does that who's goin' to keep the cobwebs out of the house an' have my meals when I come in at night an' get up in the morning?

Maybe you is supposed to have a servant but try an' get one. We been tryin' for weeks an' everyone we ask will she work wants to know did our family come over in the Mayflower, is our place heated, will she have a nice room, plenty of race steak when she wants it, and is it an apartment where the work can be done in one hour, and is we a widower who'll be away all day, etc., and will we pay $18 per week, bus found, which means we ain't found one yet and don't want to seein' I can't afford to pay 'em more than I make myself.

And speakin' of the baby's program. If the baby plays an hour from 8 a. m., what does he do the rest of the time before 11:30? Serve [illegible] or do the dishes or play [illegible] or somethin'? Further [illegible] who is the short rest for [illegible] the baby or the mother? [illegible] babies are anything like ours, [illegible] mother needs the rest after be[illegible] with 'em from 7 in the mornin' [illegible]. The program has another [illegible] the [illegible] from 2 to [illegible]. These [illegible] eventually [illegible] they [illegible] for [illegible] after a light [illegible] the program says, bed time, but that don't mean anything. Two [illegible] after we gets our kids to bed [illegible] is still battling an' their mother is runnin' up and down stairs like a fire hose in a two-story blaze.

ALWAYS HUNGRY.

As for babies bein' overnourished, it don't seem possible. Two minutes after ours has a meal they's out in the yard shakin' an apple tree for somethin' to eat. Or else they'd [illegible] at the back door it formin' [illegible] that they's hungry. For instance [illegible] feeds them before I get home [illegible] she and I [illegible] the minute I puts up my chair they run an' grab their [illegible] like they ain't had nothin' at all. An' if you try to reason 'em out of it they's simply astounded also insulted.

So you kin see Mr. Editor, as far as that baby program goes for me and my Missus, it's like a theatre program. We got no use for one because we kin never get to a show on account of the kids.

Very truly yours,
A FOND FATHER
Winthrop Highlands.

JAIL 'WOLF' TO FOIL ATTEMPT TO FREE HIM

TRICKSTER CAGED AT LAST

A trick of fate and a photo lens included Lamar's address—"The Penitentiary" in this study of the man who ran far and fast until he tripped over the Sherman law into a year in jail. On each side stands an officer

SAYS OFFICIAL FROM ASYLUM BEAT HER

An insane asylum attendant knocked her down and maltreated her in a sudden invasion of her home, Mrs. Grace Lightfoot of Worcester testified in Federal Court today.

Grace Lightfoot

She was then committed as insane on the statements of Dr. Leslie P. Leland and Dr. Michael M. Jordan, alienists, she testified.

Mrs. Lightfoot is the mother of two children. She is suing two spinster sisters, Edith and Euzelia Rolston, and the two doctors for $50,000. She charges the four conspired against her.

Describing the visit of alienists Mrs. Lightfoot said they "sneaked in" her house at nine o'clock one morning. They asked "all kinds of questions," she testified, in the ten minutes they examined her. The doctors then went to Worcester Courthouse and signed a medical report which resulted in her commitment to the Westboro State Hospital for the Insane.

At 2 o'clock the afternoon of the same day, Mrs. Lightfoot said a man and woman, attendants of the hospital, entered her house without ringing the bell. She refused to go with the man, she said, and he knocked her down and beat her.

Judge Brewster and a jury are considering the case.

JAIL FOR MEN WHO BEGAN JUDGE ISSUE

Isadore Leach and Morris Beekman, who gave two courts a headache recently by raising the constitutionality of the law regarding the right of lower court judges to sit on the bench in Superior Court are at last out of the way of court entanglement. They were sentenced today by Judge Hayden in Superior Court to the House of Correction for illegal selling of liquor. Leach got one month and a fine of $50, Beekman, two months and a fine of $100. They failed in their attempt to have the court procedure declared illegal but only after the full bench of the Supreme Court had acted.

HELD IN $1,000 ON POLYGAMY CHARGE

Herbert A. Phelps of Wilton street, Foxboro, is trying for the Solomon class, according to Helen L. Anderson, whom he married in Medford. She accuses him of polygamy.

Phelps pleaded not guilty to the charge today in Malden Court and was held in $1,000 when the case, at his request, was continued.

The prosecution charges Phelps has a wife in England. He already is under $1,000 bonds pending disposition of a statutory charge as a sequel to a raid on a house in East Douglas.

LAMAR HELD IN NEW JERSEY PRISON

New York, Oct. 18 (I. S.)—David Lamar, "Wolf of Wall Street," lies in a cell in the Essex County Penitentiary.

He has been wanted for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The department of justice, fearing that a writ of habeas corpus would free Lamar if he got into New York state, wired United States Marshal Hecht not to let Lamar set foot in New York, but get him into jail in Jersey.

Operative Walker, who was bringing Lamar from San Antonio refused to surrender the prisoner to Hecht, fearing a trick of the "Wolf's" legal friends. A fight nearly ensued, and while it threatened the train, which had been stopped at Manhattan Transfer, started for New York. In his drawing room Lamar had stripped off his outer clothing seeking to aid fate in getting him into New York by making his captors wait until the train had entered Manhattan.

But in New York he came, and under the watchful eye of the Federal men none had a chance to get the "Wolf" out of his trap, and within twenty minutes he was back in New Jersey and a few minutes later was tucked away in jail.

STRIKE COST PHONE CO. $2,000,000

Loss Will Be Met From the Surplus, Stockholders Are Assured

The operators' strike cost the telephone company $2,000,000.

This was made known today, when a statement was issued by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., in connection with the financial statement of the company for the third quarter of the year.

Stockholders are assured in the statement, which is signed by President M. B. Jones, that there will be no cessation of dividends. The loss during the quarter will be taken care of out of the company's surplus, which has been accumulated "to care for unusual situations."

The largest loss occasioned by the strike is due to "expenses of guarding and transporting operators, housing and feeding operating forces, guarding exchange buildings and restoring service." This amounts to $950,000.

Loss of revenue due to "withholding business by the public during the strike" cost $550,000. "Abnormal expense since the end of the strike for instructing new forces and restoring service" is set at $500,000.

"Rapid progress has been made in restoring expenses to a normal basis," says the statement. Stockholders are assured that the showing for the final quarter of the year will be very favorable.

"The cost of this wholly unjustifiable strike has been extremely heavy but it is well to bear in mind that large as it is this sum would have met for a period of only about four months the demands of the striking operators," concludes the statement.

TO PROBE SHIP CRASH IN VINEYARD SOUND

The United States inspector of steam vessels at Boston was notified today that the steamship Freeman, from Boston for Norfolk, and the barge Andrew McDonald, from Windsor, N. S. for New York in tow of the steamer Florida, were in collision in Vineyard Sound in a fog on October 13. The Freeman is now in dry dock at Newport News. As the collision occurred in Massachusetts waters the Boston inspector will conduct an investigatoin. The Freeman is a collier owned by the Pocahontas Fuel Company.

BIG CATCH CUTS MACKEREL PRICE

Nearly 75,000 pounds of mackerel arrived at the fish pier today. Coming on top of receipts totalling 125,000 pounds on Wednesday, the wholesale price dropped to 6 cents a pound.

Both days' catches were made mostly by small boats in Massachusetts Bay, where the fish are reported to be schooling in vast numbers.

APP VANISHES; CASE CALLED, NO ANSWER

William F. App of Medford, accused in connection with the recent assault of a fourteen-year-old Winchester High School girl, has vanished. He was scheduled to appear in Malden court today to answer to the charge of abducting eight year old Grace Drew of Melrose.

App was found guilty recently of attacking the child in Saugus meadows. He appealed and was held in $7,500 for trial later. Police charged he took the girl from Melrose to Saugus and on that charge he was to go to trial today. Bail in that case is also $7,500. When his name was called in Malden court there was no answer. Trial was then set for November 15. If he fails to respond his bail will be forfeited. In the meantime Winchester police are hunting him.

The Drew child was in the hospital for two weeks. Her assailant deserted her in the field. She was found hours later.

NO MEN ARE ALLOWED IN HOMES

Girl Students Rooming Out Forced to Entertain Men on Front Steps

Unconventional Romance and Adventure are sternly proscribed for the fair young undergraduate under twenty-five at Radcliffe by the new rules for students living out of the college bounds in Cambridge.

They are forbidden to live in the same house with men boarders.

They must not stay out later than 10 o'clock without permission.

Smoking cigarettes is taboo.

It's strictly against the rules to [illegible]

A chaperon over-forty is required for all girls living away from home. Girls who paint must supply their own towels.

No live pets except gold fish are permissible.

25, AGE OF DISCRETION.

With the resignation of President Russell Le Baron Briggs, Radcliffe becomes this year a college of women for women and by women.

Strict rules, it was claimed, were found necessary for the younger students who could not be accommodated in the college dormitory and must seek rooms outside the campus. Twenty-five appears to be the age of discretion with college officials.

The increase in the number of students at Radcliffe this year raised the problem of [illegible] a very serious one. Each undergraduate was given a list of the names of prospective landladies who subscribed to the foregoing rules. Husbands, brothers and fathers, however, are exempted from the taboo on males.

MUST SIT ON STEPS

If the landlady's on the first floor [illegible] be converted into a sitting room at a few minutes notice men [illegible] be entertained therein. But the young men callers must be resigned to [illegible] existence. Gentlemen are not permitted to climb either one, two or three flights of stairs, according to college regulations.

It makes no difference if the attic [illegible] are furnished to suggest a Louis XVI drawing room the student [illegible] other bodies converse with their visitors over the banister or sit on the front steps of her dwelling.

Boarding houses where there is no common parlor are advised against by college authorities, but the large number of students this year has complicated the situation. No more students will be allowed to register at Radcliffe due to the lack of available rooms.

TAKE NO CHANCES.

"There is one man student on the [illegible], but he's out most of the time," the keeper of a boarding house explained.

"He's awfully shy," she added [illegible]. "He wouldn't speak to you if you don't say nothing to him first." But the [illegible] young student inquirer had to [illegible] her back on the offer.

Taking meals outside the boarding house is considered most undesirable for the undergraduate students. Eating in a public place with strange men is not considered at all the thing to do.

Plans are being made for a dormitory which college authorities hope to build for next year's surplus of students, but until then the hunt for rooms is the most absorbing pastime in Cambridge during the first few weeks of college.

PRAY FOR IRISH HUNGER-STRIKERS

Dublin, Oct. 18 (I.N.S.)—A large crowd of men and women knelt in prayer today outside of Mt. Joy Prison, where the Republicans claim nearly 500 prisoners are on a hunger strike.

It is denied that Eamon De Valera is on a hunger strike.

LITTLE OLD NEW YORK

A Delightful Romance with an Unusual Heroine

This Story Will Be Shown Soon in Motion Pictures Starring Marion Davies at One of Your Favorite Theatres in Boston

THE STORY SO FAR:

Larry Delavan, a fashionable young man in the days when Fulton was perfecting his steamboat in New York, expects that his stepfather will leave him his large fortune. When John Jacob Astor reads the will he discovers that all the property goes to a nephew, Patrick O'Day, in Ireland. Astor is made trustee and Larry guardian of the heir. Delavan is terribly disappointed. The O'Day family is about to be evicted from their poor home in Ireland, when a strange solicitor appears and informs them of their good fortune. Patricia, disguised as her brother, who dies on the trip, and her father, arrive in New York. Delavan becomes interested in Robert Fulton's steamboat and promises $10,000 of the expenses. Pat acts queerly for a boy, but Delavan does not suspect.

Pat (Marion Davies) is introduced to the debutantes in "Little Old New York"

A Charming Serial of Love and Adventure in the Picturesque Days of the Beginnings of the Astor and Vanderbilt Fortunes

(To be Continued Tomorrow)

By Rida Johnson Young,

Whose Plays Have Won Her a High Place Among American Playwrights.

"Little Old New York," from the Broadway Success of That Name, by Rida Johnson Young, Has Been Created Into a Superlative Motion Picture by Cosmopolitan Productions—Direction of Sidney Olcott—Adapted by Luther Reed.

"I MADE them come, Larry" cried Betty, gaily

Ariana was mincing a little as she walked. Larry went to her eagerly and she held out her hand. But as he was about to grasp it, and, warned by something in Brevoort's look, he realized her intention, and bending a little stiffly, raised it to his lips instead, and kissed it.

"Laid—how you have changed!" she said. "And how small and utterly provincial New York does seem after London, to be sure!"

"It must," said Larry. "You look well, Ariana."

"I vow I still feel the motion of that horrid ship," and said "If ever I am fortunate enough to cross again I declare I shall end my days over there!"

"Oh, never say that!" begged Irving, smiling. "Surely you wouldn't leave us to perish in our outer darkness!"

"I have a duty here, I do presume," she said, taking him quite seriously, to his vast amusement. "My year in London has taught me how much we need refinement and culture here in New York. How I yearn for the quiet refinement of an English drawing room!"

Larry, a little taken aback, flushed angrily as he saw Irving wink at Brevoort. He welcomed Pat's sudden appearance in the garden; never saw him so much, in her quick anger at Ariana's airs, she was like a little bantam rooster.

"Ah," he said. "Here is my ward, Patrick O'Day. Mistress de Puyster—will you allow me to introduce Pat to you?"

"Laid—a boy!" exclaimed Ariana. "Pat-rick-do, boy?" She held out her hand, a little shrinkingly. And Pat, instead of kissing it, as Larry had done, grasped it and gave it a vigorous shake. Ariana screamed and snatched her hand away.

"Lad—what an impossible little boy!" she exclaimed.

Pat's cheeks flamed.

"Sure!" she said, "am I'm not alone in my impossibility, then!"

"Be still, Pat!" cried Larry angrily. "Have you no manners at all?"

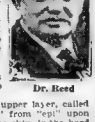
SECRETS OF HEALTH

FOUNDATION OF YOUR COMPLEXION

By Charles A. L. Reed, M. D., Former President of the American Medical Association.

THIS is the first of two articles about your complexion, or about the fairness and clearness of the skin of your face.

In this article I desire to make you familiar with the skin itself, that you may better understand the reason for various suggestions that I shall make about the care of your complexion.



Dr. Reed

Your skin consists of two layers.

The outer or upper layer, called the "epidermis," from "epi" upon and "derma," the skin, is the hard scaly layer that we see.

The inner or deeper layer—the "derma" or true skin—is much thicker than the outer skin.

Dipping down into these layers are three sets of little pockets called "follicles" or glands. From one set, called the "hair follicles," grow the hairs. From another set called the "perspiratory glands," is derived the watery secretion which either evaporates insensibly from the surface or accumulates sensibly upon the surface in the form of sweat. From the third set, called the "sebaceous glands," is derived the oily secretion that makes the surface soft and velvety.

These ramifications, too, that ramify dated beneath the skin and fastening it to the body are a lot of more or less elastic or contractile sheets or connections.

Just keep these few facts in your mind.

You will then be in a position to understand that these various structures—most of them so minute that you cannot see them with the naked eye—must have certain conditions under which to perform their respective functions.

WAYS OF A HUSBAND

SEQUEL TO "WHEN A GIRL MARRIES"

By Ann Lisle

IRMA turned and smiled shyly.

"I think Miss Warren is hoping you'll take her home with you, Anne," said Betty significantly. "I'm hating the thought of losing you. But I've an idea I'd be a selfish thing to try to keep you"—

"Oh, I'm not even polite, taking you away like this," stammered Irma, so flustrated that she didn't know which way to turn.

It was evident that the courage which had impelled her to come to fetch me was oozing away. But Betty, smiling graciously, took charge of the situation.

"I'm the rude one for not inviting that you stay here. But I am a bit fagged and as Mrs. Harrison and I meet again tomorrow morning at nine in our office, we both feel it's a good idea to cut short our conference."

Thus put at once, Irma lost her sense of guilt and managed her good night plus a shy little wish that she might see Betty again. And Betty, with one hand on Irma's shoulder, said a cordial and gracious thing

"I wish, my dear, you weren't so obviously the charming and rare home girl. There are so few of her today, so it's bad luck that you happen to be, for Anne and I need a congenial soul in her office and wouldn't you make the perfect third angle to our affairs?"

"Oh—I'm so flattered—but I couldn't"— gasped Irma, blushing with delight and saying her good night in the happy assurance that she had made a new friend.

Our drive to my apartment was given over to a paean of praise of Betty Winston. But as we neared the seclusion and privacy of my home, Irma sounded a deeper note.

"It's almost like an omen—my meeting that wonderful woman just when I get back and—well, if I should ever have come, oh, Mrs. Harrison, your Betty Winston is the only other woman I've ever met in this big city who's come-folks like you."

"Sure'nuse you try saying 'Anne,'" I rep'd, nodding gravely: "Betty and I you at school, Irma, and Bet And Betty, with one hand on Irma's shoulder, said a cordial and gracious thing

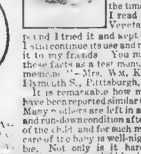
THIS LITTLE BABY GIRL

Was Benefited by the Good Her Mother Got from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound



Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my little girl was born, and the effect it had was wonderful. This will be the first child I have nursed as I had to bring my two boys up on the bottle. I was very nervous and worried, tired all the time, and after I read about the Vegetable Compound I tried it and kept on with it. It has continued to do me wonders. Many callers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after the birth of the child and for mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indeed suffer.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother at this time. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs.

A recent canvass reports 98 out of every 100 women are benefited by

Colored Star After Title Held by Greb

George Robinson, who meets Johnny Wilson in Arena bout.

Wilson went to Freddy Walsh's farm at Summit N. J. shortly after he lost his championship to Harry Greb. He didn't go there for the purpose of brooding over his loss. Instead he was more ... than ever and determined to win back his championship.

Although out of the ring for a most two years prior to his encounter with Greb, Wilson found that the Pittsburgh fighter was not a superman. Harry winced under Wilson's blows and gave ground every time Johnny got to close quarters and started banging away with left and right hand blows to the body.

The contest was so close that Referee Jack O'Sullivan, Muldoon's choice in an effort to see that Wilson didn't get a raw deal, ... called the contest a draw. ... Judges gave the decision to W. ... Headliners like Harry Greb, Mike McTigue and Tom Gibbons have passed up matches with the Cambridge negro on the grounds ...

Wilson probably knows better than anybody else what a rugged customer Robinson is. He has clashed with George four times. Each has a decision to his credit, while the other two contests were no-decision affairs.

After a sea voyage of four days, a brown and white baby eagle arrived in Boston, when the schooner Louise E. Marshall docked at the fish pier.

The eaglet was placed in the hands of Timothy Sullivan of Revere, employed at the pier, who straightway presented it to Boston College as their much longed for mascot.

The eaglet, probably blown out to sea, was discovered three hundred miles off Chatham, clinging to the mast of the fishing vessel. It was captured and cared for by Manuel Santos, one of the crew.

HARVARD PLANS FOR 50,000 ON SATURDAY

Cambridge will experience a jam almost as great as that of the Harvard Yale game on Saturday when 50,000 persons, by divers routes, attempt to crush their way into the Stadium to watch Holy Cross do battle with the Crimson eleven. Extra stands have been erected, and every available inch of space will be packed.

Kenneth Hill

As the time draws nearer, it becomes more evident that Harvard is due for the fight of the early season. A highly efficient Purple team will attempt to batter in Harvard's defence, which as yet, has not lived up to Crimson tradition.

Coach Fisher sent his men through another hard scrimmage session behind locked gates. The second team, using Holy Cross formations and plays, was pitted against the regulars. Jimmy Knox, who has been scouting the Purple team, directed the work of the scrubs.

The plays of the scrubs were directed against the tackles, where Glennon, the Purple plunger, is expected to hurl himself Saturday. The center of the Crimson line seems much stronger, and it is not likely that Holy Cross will find it as weak as did Middlebury.

Percy Jenkins

Harvard is trying to devise a suitable defence against the attacks of Mahaney, the great Purple end. It is more than probable that the Purple backs will attempt more than once to gain around Mahaney's end, as the big fellow can certainly pave the way.

In fact, Coach Fisher believes that his problem to beat Holy Cross will be solved if he can devise a sufficiently strong defence against the two Purple stars.

The Crimson team spent part of the time in signal drill and in rehearsing new formations.

The work today will not be of a strenuous nature, as the Crimson team is tuned now, and needs only a few light drills to polish it off for Saturday's game.

PAPYRUS' SPEEDY WORKOUT GIVES ZEV BACKERS A SHOCK

BETTING AT EVEN MONEY

Jarvis, trainer of the English colt, when the trial was over. "There is nothing I can add to that. Papyrus is running just as well as I expected him to do and I think that will be enough to win on Saturday."

CLOSE TO TRACK RECORD WITHOUT ANY EFFORT.

Papyrus' time for the mile was close to the track record, but there were features more impressive about the trial than showed on the dial of the timers' watches. In the first place, he ran at least half distance into the teeth of a head wind.

In the second, he started very slowly and easily, contrary to his wont. He merely allowed Bar Gold, his stable companion, to step out to a three-length lead, then, increasing his speed, without apparent effort, picked up the other horse at the end of the back stretch, galloped side-by-side with him along the turn, then, half way up to the stretch, stepped out at his best and passed the judges stand four lengths in front, with Donoghue's hand clutching firmly at the reins.

Continuing at an easy gallop, he went on to [illegible] 1:43 4-5, pulled up.

The intermediate times were: eighth of a mile: 12 1-5; quarter, 23 4-5; three furlongs, 35 2-5; half mile, 47 3-5; five furlongs, 59 3-5; six furlongs, 1:11 2-5; seven furlongs, 1:25; mile, 1:38 2-5.

Sam Hildreth trainer of Zev, was one of the clockers. He pocketed his watch without a word and looked very stern. Asked to comment on Papyrus' workout, he replied:

OWNER OF ZEV AMONG THOSE CLOCKING PAPYRUS

"Papyrus is a good horse, a real champ. He never fooled me a bit I always knew he could run."

One of the things which has lo[illegible] horsemen running around in circles is the fact that the visiting colt has not yet been set out to run at his best.

It was believed he would be sent over the full distance of a mile and a half at top speed this morning, but Jarvis hood-winked the boys by cutting off the final half and letting his horse enjoy a mere gallop. In other words Papyrus stood a real deep track in 2:33[illegible].

The horse finished the trial in wonderful condition. He breathed very easily as stable hands walked him up and down and later cooled out satisfactorily, according to information that came from the invader's stable.

New England Boys on Canisius Eleven

More than a dozen New Englanders grace the roster of the Canisius College grid squad. Among the first string men are Joe Nolan from Lowell, Jack Leahy from Newton, and Jack Redmond from Portland.

Nolan plays left tackle and is a seasoned veteran of three years' experience. His last year's performance against the Eagle proves him a hard tackler and charger.

Harold Ward

Leahy is also a lineman and plays alongside Nolan at left end. He was a sub last season, but his speed and his ability to gather in forwards have gained for him a varsity berth.

Jack Redmond, who started the Rochester game as fullback, has been picked to start against B. C. Redmond was a member of the Eagle squad last year before he went to the Buffalo institution. He is fast and very clever on interference. Tom Flaherty, a quarterback, also hails from Portland, as well as Jack O'Hara, a halfback.

Two other Maine boys are Jack Lynch and Eddie Short, both from Bangor. George Geary, a lineman and Jack Brennan a back hail from Urban's home town, Fall River.

TWO OTHER LOWELL BOYS ALSO ON SQUAD.

In addition to Nolan the Lowell quota is comprised of Jack Cahill, a halfback, who was kept out of the game last year because of injuries, and George O'Hare, a quarter, who is one of the smallest but the fastest men on the squad.

The remaining members of the Yankee contingent are Bob Morrissey, end, from Medford and Eddie Franklin from Woonsocket, back.

The first team that Coach Urban has used in scrimmage this week is probably that which will face the Eagle.

It lines up as follows.

Guanieri, r. e.; Feist, r. t.; Collins, r. g.; Knauff, c.; Currier, l. g.; Nolan, l. t.; Leahy, l. e.; Mangano, q. b.; Captain Burt, r. h. b.; Weldon, l. h. b.; and Redmond, f. b.

QUARTER MANGANO MAKES HIS FIRST APPEARANCE

Eddie Mangano, the quarter this year makes his initial appearance in a Canisius uniform. He is a wonderful broken field runner as well as an aggressive line plunger. He comes from St. Bonaventure, and appears for the first time in the quarterback position. He formerly played half for Canisius Prep.

Captain Russell Burt is a veteran of three years, and those who saw Canisius play here last years will remember him well. He is a bear on skirting the ends. Although he is the lightest man on the team, he is high point scorer of the season.

The final member of the backfield trio is Weldon. He is the best line plunger that Canisius can boast of, and tips the scales at 175. He is fast for his weight, and scored two of the tallies that were hung against Rochester.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

—By B. C. Forbes—

Seattle, Oct. 18.—A fourteen-year-old Eng[illegible] forty-three years ago and began roughing it, first in Canada and later in our own West. He was a fireman, carpenter, clerk, farmer, laborer. Sometimes he had a good bed and good clothes; at other times his bed was of straw and his clothes were dilapidated.

Once [illegible] up against it, he took a fireman's job, but, when told as a start to fill the boiler with water he was stumped. He couldn't find the opening for the water, except the door of the fire and he doubted their efficacy. The engineer exploded, [illegible] told him that if shown [illegible] time he would vouch for [illegible] the boilers abundantly supplied with steam. His truthfulness won, and in two months he was given the engineer's job.

Today this man is the president of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, Frank Waterhouse.

He is also, among other things, president of the Community Hotel Corporation, chairman of the Red Cross, chairman of the Interclub Council, and a leader in other civic activities. He has averaged five hours work at the Chamber of Commerce during the two years he has been president. He has been a pioneer in establishing shipping lines to Japan, China, the Philippines, Straits Settlements, Siberia, Australia, New Zealand and Europe. Like most pioneers he has had financial ups and downs. And like most shipping men he was hard hit when the bottom fell out of shipping after the war boom.

But business ups and downs have not cooled his ardor for [illegible] and other public service.

I have just had a long talk with Mr. Waterhouse. Here are some of the things this head of the principal business association in the city said.

"The Pacific Northwest, in fact the Pacific coast as a whole, has been more greatly blessed by Providence than any other region. I refer to our wealth of natural resources, our gorgeous scenery, the fact that we are the healthiest section of the country, our geographical location for business and commerce, and to our opportunities for future development and increasing prosperity.

"In early days in Seattle we cooperated so well that our development was given a tremendous impetus. This Seattle spirit has lain dormant [illegible] until [illegible] We are [illegible] thanks to our newspapers [illegible] together now as [illegible] have been [illegible] past. [illegible] have [illegible] now [illegible] are going [illegible] der [illegible] program with the view that what is good for one is good for all.

"Our four principal material needs are: increased population, capital, more industries, more markets.

"What are we doing to provide for these needs? What is our program? [illegible] throughout the Northwest, we are developing a new population and new wealth that we may settle our land, develop our resources, and add to our payrolls by promoting [illegible] in every way [illegible] spends many dollars a day but much more important every tourist is a potential settler and investor.

"For the same reasons we are also working for the reclamation of our arid overflow and cutover lands. And we are among other things endeavoring to work out a definite comprehensive policy of reforestation."

Frank Waterhouse's view extends beyond the Northwest and embraces a program of Pacific Coast unity involving British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and California. [illegible] "I see no reason why the people living on the Pacific Coast in most things should not pull together.

"We should encourage and develop a greater degree of friendship and neighborliness among the communities between Vancouver on the north and [illegible] on the south. We need a keener appreciation of the fact that what is good for one is good for all. In a few years Seward's prophecy will have been realized—the scene of the greatest commercial activity will be with and between the communities bordering on the Pacific Ocean. If we will but vigorously and intelligently take advantage of our opportunities, we will develop on the Pacific Coast of the United States and Canada, the world's greatest and most prosperous empire.

"All of the larger cities on the coast, such as Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, now are engaged in a national tourist advertising campaign. We can help California to develop her Winter tourist business as she can help us to make our country the world's Summer playground. We should confer and work together to eliminate duplication and get the most out of our expenditures.

"The Pacific coast working unity is absolutely necessary to expedite the development and popularize the wonderful and beautiful national parks of this region, the finest playgrounds and the greatest attractions for our own people and our visitors.

* * *

"The Pacific Coast should unite without delay upon a naval program. We stand for two adequate naval shore stations on the Pacific coast. One in Puget Sound at Bremerton, the other in California. We are ready and anxious to co-operate with California to such an end.

"Foreign trade offers another field for unity of effort on the part of Pacific coast ports, also to development and perpetuation of the American Merchant Marine."

Unity is needed in other places besides the Pacific Coast, I think many communities will agree.

* * *

One thing that has greatly impressed me is the health record of this part of the country. I hope to present the facts in a later column.

TIRE ISSUES AT FRESH LOWS FOR YEAR

Equipments were most active and strong in an irregular New York stock market with money renewing at 4½ and lowering to 4 per cent.

Among issues at new lows for 1923 were Colorado & Southern Railway, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich Rubber, Hartmann Corporation, International Nickel, Keystone Tire, Lee Tire, National Enameling and Pressed Steel Car preferred.

The [illegible] at new lows for the year reflected the tire price cutting war. Shippings showed strength.

In last hour trading there were point or better gains for American International Corporation, du Pont and Davison Chemical. Marine preferred was up over 2 and Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies climbed 2.

BEARS ARE FOILED.

At the same time there were point or more losses for Coca-Cola, Famous Players, Lee and Canadian Pacific.

Experiments of bear professionals who were trying to pick out weak spots and unsettle the general market were frustrated by the effective support extended to the representative shares. National Enameling was hammered down 5¼ points to 35, a new low, and then rebounded to 37½.

National Enameling's break was accompanied by further rumors questioning the permanence of the $6 dividend rate. Pressure on these issues arrested recovery in the general list, but a number of issues continued to show strength. Among these was Industrial Alcohol, which advanced to 50, against Wednesday's low 47¼.

AIDS U. S. ALCOHOL.

This spurt was due to announcement that Cuba Company had declared a quarterly dividend of $1. As Alcohol owns 10 per cent. of outstanding 640,000 shares of Cuba Company its earnings will be materially increased by this dividend.

Moreover, its alcohol and chemical business this year is the best of any year excluding the war period.

Company recently advanced the price of alcohol to 37 cents. There is a large short interest in this stock, according to brokers familiar with its movement.

Reports of U. S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel will be published towards the close of the month. These concerns, the trade expects, will show profits smaller than in the second, but larger than in the first quarter.

Public Utility Liens Feature Bond Market

Increasing activity in public utility [illegible] featured New York bond dealings. Price changes were again irregular.

Norwegian 6s of 1943 dropped nearly a point to a new 1923 low and the Oriental issues developed a heavy tone. U. S. Government Bonds held steady. Railroad liens were mixed with New Haven 7s and Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio 5s each showing point gains.

Virginia Carolina Chemical issues were in supply, the 7s dropping nearly 2 points.

Market Notes

THERE are numbers of "bear" stops above the market in leading stocks. Execution of these will bring more stops into play.

FORBES VISITS BIG LUMBER PLANTS

By Universal Service

Seattle, Oct. 18.—B. C. Forbes, famous Hearst financial writer, addressed an overflow meeting when he was the guest of honor at the First Presbyterian Church, under auspices of the Men's Club of the church. This was the conclusion of a busy day during which the noted writer was escorted through the big lumbering plants of Snohomish County.

"Christianity and the Younger Business Men of America," was the topic of Mr. Forbes' church address. In his talk he stressed the close contact of Christianity in modern business and urged that these principles be followed by the younger business men of the community in their march up the ladder of success. The meeting was the result of an invitation extended to Mr. Forbes by the pastor when the writer attended services at the church last Sunday.

Some of the largest lumber mills and logging camps in the country were viewed by Mr. Forbes when he was taken to Everett by a committee of business men. After visiting the immense logging operations of Colonel Roland H. Hartley, the distinguished guest was taken to the Everett Commercial Club, where he addressed a luncheon of all the leading business men of the community.

Speaking to Everett leaders, Mr. Forbes emphasized the opportunities of that district to develop industrially, particularly along lines of creating manufacturing plants that would utilize the various by-products of the lumber industry.

After the Everett tour, Mr. Forbes returned to Seattle where he spent the afternoon conferring with business leaders. His program for the day climaxes with the church address, which was given in connection with an elaborate program of music. He was introduced by Captain W. R. Ballard, vice-moderator of the First Presbyterian Church. J. L. McArthur, president of the Men's Club, presided.

PRICES IN BOSTON RULE STRONG

Prices ruled strong in trading on the Boston Stock Exchange, aside from Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway "B," which dropped four points, mirroring considerable slump in [illegible].

Amoskeag was up 2½, while there were point or more gains in Boston & Albany, Boston & Maine preferred, Eastern Steamship 1st preferred, Eastern Massachusetts adjustments, Ventura and Hood Rubber.

New England Telephone stood up well under the announcement of losses sustained by the late strike, off 1¼, only a fraction under Wednesday's low.

Issues sold fractionally higher were United Shoe, Boston Consolidated Gas, Elevated, Boston & Maine common, Pacific Mills and both Swift issues.

At the same time Elevated preferred, Calumet & Hecla, Island Creek, Mergenthaler, Quincy, United Fruit and Waldorf were chipped slightly.

The Safest Way to Invest

Millions of dollars have been lost by inexperienced investors because they failed to realize that abnormally high interest rates and safety of principal are rarely combined in a sound investment.

Safety of principal should be the first consideration in making an investment—Income is of secondary importance. This is the principle followed by the largest and most successful investors—investors of moderate means can hardly do better than to follow this plan.

Most Paying Sugars Sell to Yield as High as 10 P. C.

Most sugar common stocks paying dividends are selling to yield 10 per cent. or more. Punta selling above its par of $50 a share is an exception, yielding little better than 9 per cent. on its recently resumed dividend basis of $5 annually. Fajordo, which has declared $16.50 in dividends this year, is selling over the counter at $103 a share for its stock of $100 par.

Decline in sugar stocks, in opinion of some sugar interests, may be discounting somewhat lower sugar prices with advent of new Cuban crop in December.

Sugar bonds of the best companies are selling to yield 7 per cent. to 8½ per cent.

U. S. POWER CO. GETS ST. ANTHONY FALLS

Minneapolis, Oct. 18.—All the power rights on St. Anthony Falls, one of the largest developments of natural water power in the world, came into the possession of the Northern States Power Company today. It was announced by F. R. Pack, vice-president of the company.

The Pillsbury-Washburn Flour Mills Company, Limited, of Great Britain, heretofore owned the power rights.

START WAR ON COOLIDGE'S FARM PLAN

Washington, Oct. 18 (I.N.S.)—The administration's plans for relieving farm distress in the wheat belt are scheduled for touch sledding in the new Congress. This became certain today, when Democratic and Republican farm bloc members apparently joined hands to attack the government relief program.

Senator D. U. Fletcher of Florida voiced a protest against the Coolidge plan for organizing co-operative marketing associations, which are to be the basis of government farm relief. His attack came only twenty-four hours after the plan was condemned by Senator E. F. Ladd of North Dakota. Both are prominent farm bloc members.

While Democrats and Republicans alike offered their own solutions for farm depression, both were emphatic in predicting failure for the administration program. Their attitude indicated a protracted battle will develop in the next Congress over just what to do for the farmer.

With the administration proposing one program, the farmers' associations another, the farm bloc dissenting from both and individual senators and congressmen offering a score of substitute remedies, the outlook is anything but rosy for agricultural legislation. Although all factions are agreed that something must be done, opinions on what should be done vary as much as the two poles.

Rejection of 48-Hour Law

Inadequate Presentation of Its Merits Apparent Cause of Vote in Maine

The result of the submission to the voters of Maine of the 48-hour law has apparently been its rejection. This just law was defeated by the farming element. It apparently was not very effectively advocated by anyone. We assume that the labor unions entirely defaulted on the law; if that is so, a grave tactical mistake was made by organized labor.

There are no automatic processes in our democracy. There is no cause which can be advanced without struggle. The stability of our institutions requires that this should be so. If changes in our institutions and our laws and our economic social and political conditions could be made without any effort, they would be full of instability, and by their very instability would work more harm than the postponement of an improved condition.

That the people of Maine, after sober reflection, should reject the 48-hour law is unbelievable. That they should reject it upon inadequate presentation of its merits is not only credible but creditable.

We never want the time to come in this country when we can get a change just by desiring it. All our progress is made by struggle. We only want to facilitate the method of changing our laws so that a minority cannot rule the country. We want to be able to change a law when a majority, after hearing the arguments, has clearly made up its mind and recorded its decision. Such is the providential conservatism of a majority in a democracy on any question concerning its existing institutions, that it can never be obtained without effort, and GREAT effort.

Gold Is Gold

Trotzky Knows It

Copyright, 1923, Star Co.

Important travelers to Russia are taken to the Russian State banks, where they see bags and boxes filled with gold bars, then to the Central Bank, where they see millions in foreign money, and big bags filled with old Russian gold coin.

This is intended to show the visitors that Russia has REAL money in addition to her paper trash, if she wants to use it.

That condition of affairs may be due to Trotzky. He is an idealist, an enthusiast, believes in Communism and other Utopian theories, but quite and entirely apart from BELIEF he KNOWS that when you have boxes and bags of real gold you are better able to make your experiments than without.

There is nothing dreamlike about solid gold. It can buy men, service, life, and even buy nations. It is war's life blood, as courage and might are war's conquerors.

Japan and Christianity

Energy Is Itself a Miracle

Copyright, 1923, Star Co.

Bishop Tucker tells his audience in the Episcopal Church of St. John the Divine that Christians must immediately rebuild the Christian churches, hospitals and schools destroyed by the earthquake in Japan, "to make the Japanese look favorably upon the Christian religion."

The Japanese, assured by our missionaries that they represent an All Powerful Being, controlling earthquakes and all forces of nature, are naturally amazed at the destruction of so many Christian churches, and a little disappointed that no miracle stepped in to save them.

Being pagans, it is hard to make them understand that nature's laws rarely give way to miraculous intervention in these days. However, pagans and all others admire and bow to energy. If our Christian churches in Japan are quickly rebuilt, the Japanese will say: "That is nearly a miracle."

Good for Judge Hayden!

The Boston Herald last week published the following statement:

> A sentence which spread consternation in bootlegging ranks was imposed last night by Judge Hayden of the Superior Court when Tony Cataifamo, a Dorchester avenue barber, was sent to Deer Island for seven months and fined $100 upon each of two complaints. The consternation was not due so much to the stiff sentence as to the fact that it was imposed for a first offence.

Good for Judge Hayden! That consternation which he caused will do more good to enforce the law and uphold the Constitution than one thousand fines.

We call U. S. District Attorney Harris' attention to this sentence, and we say to him that no one has ever asked him to demand imprisonment beyond the provisions of the law. Those who want to see the law and the Constitution upheld in his district would be delighted if he would ask for jail sentences within the law. In fact, they would be delighted if he would ask for jail sentences of ONE-HALF the period provided by law!

Wage Increase for Carmen

We always like to learn of an increase in wages awarded by an impartial tribunal. So we welcome the news that the Board of Arbitration has awarded the employes of the Boston Elevated an increase of nine cents an hour in their wages. If this is satisfactory to them, it will be satisfactory to the public; if it is just to them, it will be satisfactory to the public, also.

A nation cannot be really prosperous when its wage-earners are not prosperous. Our workingmen (using the term "workingmen" as a generic term) constitute the base of our economic structure. Whatever impairs their usefulness impairs the foundation of our economic system.

So when the Board of Arbitration decides that those who operate our street railways ought to get more money, the presumption is that the road can afford to pay more; that conditions justify the advance, and that the men deserve it. All these presumptions indicate a prosperous community.

WEAK BRAIN TRACED TO NEGLECT

DETROIT, Oct. 18.—Virtually every case of mental deficiency recorded has its origin during the formative period of the life of the person affected, in the opinion of Dr. Arnold Gesel, Ph. D., director of the Yale psychoclinic and professor of child hygiene at Yale University, who addressed the delegates to the annual convention of the American Child Health Association.

Discussing "The Pre-School Child as a Health Problem," Dr. Gesell made an earnest plea for a more intensive effort by individuals and organizations to improve the health and mental equipment of the child from two to six years old, who so long has been neglected.

Attacks the French

Editor Boston American:

It seems that the international bankers certainly must have a lot of money tied up in France not to allow any other nation to interfere with her misdoings. The German "propaganda" magazines, just landed in Boston are true, absolutely true, even though they are branded as false. The French are shooting down Germans like dogs for they are told to do so. I have just returned with an investigating committee and have seen everything with my own eyes. The French think in a few months they will be able to dictate to all Europe and then they will take England's place and dictate to us. Their debt to us is a joke. G. M.

Learn About Money

Editor Boston American:

There are studies I think should be added to the Grammar school course. To girls and boys facing the actualities of life the "ologies" are not so important except sexology which is an absolute asset. As soon as the three R's have been mastered, I would advocate money and its value, how to invest, how to save, etc. Those are the principal problems we face immediately on leaving school. Not mythical, but real. I wonder it, hasn't been adopted before. Most of life's failures come through ignorance of vital things. THIRTY-EIGHT.

WORDS FROM THE LIPS OF WISE MEN

A PROMISE should be made by the heart and remembered by the hand.

* * *

There never was contentment in a mean and sordid aim.

At thirty a man suspects himself fool;
Knows it at forty, and reforms his plan;
At fifty chides his infamous delay,
Pushes his prudent purpose to resolve;
In all the magnanimity of thought
Resolves and re-resolves; then dies the same.—Young.

Helping Hand Anniversary

To all our many kind friends, the editor sends greetings today on the almost anniversary of the Helping Hand Column. It was really Oct. 6, but we were so busy that the day slipped by before we knew it.

On Oct. 6, 1922, the first Helping Hand column appeared in the Boston American. There had been offers and appeals before, but they had been included in the "Voice of New England."

At first there weren't so many letters and two small columns half of the size of these suffced. Today if we published only the letters we think ought to be published, there would be very little else in the paper.

We haven't room to say all the nice things we would like to say about the generous people who have made this phenomenal growth possible. The heartfelt thanks of a small army of unfortunates who have been given a "helping hand" over the rough places is theirs, and it is they who deserve the credit for the great work in which we have been only the happy instrument.

In handling such a large volume of correspondence there are bound to be mistakes and omissions. Many letters come without full names, or with illegible names or addresses. We have tried to acknowledge every offer made either by mail or in these columns, and if there has been any commission, we want to say we are sorry and to express the hope that we will have another chance. It will also assist us if reference to published letters is made by the initials or pen name given at the end of each one.

So here goes for another year in which we hope to gain as many new friends and increase our belief in the essential generosity of everybody as much as last year.

Returns Thanks

Editor Helping Hand:

I wrote the two people you gave me the addresses of and last night I received two packages from Mrs. M. J. L., and I am writing her a letter of thanks, as the things she sent me were very useful and will help me very much. Her letter also gave us cheer. My husband has found no work yet, but I trust that he will soon. The Ladies' Aid sent us beans, vegetables and cake after a supper last night, and had they not, I fear we would have had to go without any, as the boy's pay does not last us the week out. After our happiness at the nice supper, the packages came, which made us all so happy. This is to let you know how needy we really were and what blessings you are bestowing on the poor. Should you have anything, else 38, please remember me, for I believe me really grateful for the help with the children you have already given.

MRS. A. L. B.

Offers Baby's "Lullaby"

Editor Helping Hand:

If you will send me the name of a mother in need of a baby's "lullaby" I will gladly deliver same.

MRS. F. M.

Thank you. We will hold your kind offer for a reply from some needy mother.

Wants to Adopt Child

Editor Helping Hand:

Is there some kind-hearted woman that understands a mother's heart that has a baby girl she would like to put out for adoption. It must have black hair and eyes, or dark brown hair and eyes. I lost my little girl a few months ago, and my heart has been broken ever since. I was told by a doctor that I cannot have any more children as the result of three operations I recently had. My little boy's heart is broken because his little sister has been called away from him. Baby must be between four and six months old. I have a good home and everything a baby's heart could really wish. I am American and my husband is of Spanish descent.

MRS. L. P. 5.

Boy Pleads for Family

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a poor boy. I have one big brother sixteen that works and gets fifteen dollars a week. There are five to feed and clothe and pay rent out of that. My father is dead and my mother's health is not good enough to work out, but she does all the housework, so if you can please send us some clothes for my brother, four, my baby sister, fourteen months, and I would like some blouses, thirteen-year-old size. My mother will be pleased to get anything you can send us. EDDIE.

Wants Addresses

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me the address of Mrs. C. McD. and Mrs L. W. M.

MRS. T. I. S.

Thank you. You have been sent their addresses. You are one of our most steadfast helpers.

Invalid Needs Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I am speaking for an invalid, who is in poor circumstances and is in need of warm clothing, as she is very sensitive to cold. If any reader has a bathrobe or kimona, large size and a shoulder shawl, I know she needs them and would appreciate anything given her. Her name is

A. H. 4.

Needs Men's Shoes

Editor Helping Hand:

I am writing to see if I can get a pair of men's shoes, size seven or eight. They are for an old lady that lives all alone and has no relatives or means of support. She has been ill and her feet swell very badly, and she has no shoes she can wear. J. C. M.

Thanks For Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

Mrs. R. of Dorchester sent mamma a wonderful box of clothes for myself and sisters. I want to thank you for your kindness. I have written her thanking her, for they were beautiful things. MILDRED.

Helps in Her Turn

Editor Helping Hand:

I was helped by your wonderful column and now I want to show how grateful I am by helping somebody else. I have a Winter coat with fur collar and a sweater and a gray lace dress. Also shoes, size 5½ and a gray pleated skirt. These will fit a girl of sixteen or seventeen or older. It is a shame that some people have a lot of things they will never use. MRS. G. L.

Many thanks. You have been sent the address of Mrs. A. C., who is not well enough to work. Glad you are out of the "helper" group into the helper.

HANG YOUR CLOTHES ON A HICKORY LIMB

By Herbert Kaufman

LIKE the celebrated lady who told her "darling daughter" to go swimming, but keep away from the water, Lloyd George urges us both to stick to the ways of peace and come to the rescue of Europe. No one better than he knows the price America must pay to secure a seat at any international council table nowadays. The Old World doesn't wish to be convinced of our ways. Its purpose in drawing the United States abroad is: First, to nullify our influence in the Western Hemisphere by putting to a general vote all issues now covered by the Monroe Doctrine; second, to secure control of America's military and naval resources, pledging us to support vi et armis the majority decisions of selfish coalitions; third, to loot the U. S. Treasury through fiscal resolutions, such as a general cancellation of war debts.

Heaven help any fat lamb that enters that wolf den. So many ways to skin a cat. In fairness to Lloyd George, whose own speeches and writings largely attest similar suspicion of dominant foreign diplomacy, he is probably the last man to counsel the surrender of our protective sovereignty.

It Can Be Done Without Agreements

Far from confiding in the disinterestedness of league leaders, he admits that the one abiding hope of civilization and democracy lies in common accord between England and America for the maintenance of universal order and amity.

Without access to the wealths and yields of the United States or the British Empire, no country can long carry on.

Cut off from the two great reservoirs of raw and manufactured products, foodstuffs and money, there is hardly a people on earth able to wage a successful war or execute a progressive program.

Special agreements aren't necessary to employ this irresistible influence for the human good. Each of us, when so minded, can refuse risky credits, close our markets to bullies and treaty breakers, and lend material aid to victims of injustice and oppression.

Tradition and self-defence demand that we go no farther. Whenever invited to act as umpires or arbitrators, we shall be pleased to serve mankind without expectation of advantage or reward.

If the powers cannot decide upon the amount of indemnity Germany can pay or the best manner of guaranteeing its collection nothing in our Constitution or philosophy interferes with acceptance of invitation to determine a fair settlement.

Half a Billion for a Loaf of Bread

Congressman Burton calls at the White House to endorse the Hughes plan for sending a commission of financiers into the Ruhr. Lloyd George, you will remember, also favors the suggestion. Senator Smoot, after a personal investigation of German affairs, estimates that the biggest sum the allies should expect to reach from the tottering Reich is seventy billion marks.

A few months hence, even seventy billions may not be procurable, disaster moves fast upon the heels of hunger. So long as nations have their daily bread, reason command actions. But further don't concern starving mul necessity is blind to consequences, the sudden increase price of four-pound bakers' loaves, from thirty-four million marks to a half billion, foments widespread riots and shop raids in Germany.

The police had them in hand yesterday, next week an army may not be able to hold the mobs. The history of the French revolution seems to be lost upon M. Poincare, or, as reputed, occupation and intimidation are accomplishing his deliberate purposes.

The Barge Canal Plays Parson

The only problems that seem to persist are those of human nature. Intelligence presses its victories everywhere else. What a pity these wits with no insuperable physical obstacles can't get file the rusty shackles of hate and pride.

The Twin Ports arrives in New York to show how easily material difficulties are overcome. Here's the first vessel that ever came straight from Duluth to Manhattan. The marriage of Great Lakes and Atlantic, with the barge canal as officiating parson.

This extraordinary ship, the ultimate word in marine engineering, is only forty-two feet wide and electrified from engineroom to stern, a forerunner of vast grain and ore-carrying fleets which will remain in northern waters only during open season and engage in coastal and gulf trade when Winter locks our inland seas. An epochal day for the American merchant marine.

Dr. Cook Returns to the News

The last steamer of the season leaves Dawson and the Yukon Territory isolated from communication. But doubtless for the last time. Zeppelins will soon be running on regular schedule to the Arctic Circle. Modern traffic systems won't long be regulated by thermometers. Dr. Frederick Cook, brought to trial at Forth Worth for fraudulent use of the mails after release from a probable penitentiary term, may be able to take a look at the Pole he didn't see. Those whoever confided in his oil prospectuses shouldn't be too hard upon themselves. They're in the same boat with kings and astronomical societies if that's food for consolation.

Munchausen left numerous progeny behind, mostly engaged at the present moment in evading bucketshop and Blue Sky legislation.

When Consuelo's Husband Entered With His Pearl Gray Derby

The Latest Striking "Shot" of Mme. Jacques Balsan, the Former Consuelo Vanderbilt, Later Duchess of Marlborough, Snapped at the First International Military Polo Match, Westbury, L. I.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Mother of Mme. Balsan, with Her Son-in-Law, Col. Balsan, Wearing the Pearl-Gray Derby at the Long Island Event.

American and British Players in Action on the Westbury Polo Field, with the "400" Eagerly Watching.

What a Great Difference It Makes Who Is UNDER a Hat, as Shown by the Reversal When the "400" Found the Strange "Bowler" Was Socially Correct

Captain Clayton, Scotland's Eccentric Sportsman, in One of the Oddly-Shaped Cream-Tinted Derbies Which He Affects.

THE next gentleman to step up was an athletic, dark little chap wearing a pearl-gray derby!

A flapper tittered. An undergrad society blood turned his eyes on high, as though asking the heavens to witness it. A polo pony turned, looked again, and laughed a hoarse horse laugh.

Through the throng of our "best people," foregathered about the polo field of Westbury, L. I., at the topmost outdoor sporting event of the early Autumn, spread a contagious merriment; not a cruel hee-haw, such as a plebeian crowd blasts forth when a fat man slips on a banana peel, but an irresistible, though suppressed, snicker. The boxholders were too well-bred to roar but too human to choke.

A gray derby! Shades of Pete Daly, Ward McAllister, Weber and Fields!

At that moment, the wearer of the criticized hat turned his sleek, well-shaped head so that a shaft of sunlight illuminated his crisply cut features.

Was it some social pusher who was trying to "put one over" on the polo crowd? Was it a blue-blooded joker, in semi-masquerade? Was it the loser of a bet? Far from it!

For the man with the pearl-gray derby was none other than Colonel Jacques Balsan, second husband of Consuelo Vanderbilt, erstwhile Duchess of Marlborough!

"Goodness, me!" ejaculated a dainty debutante, who had graduated from Slang's Finishing School—with honors. "Goodness, me! What will these men be pulling on us next in the way of hats?"

"Can you beat that?" murmured a more or less swagger clubman, himself no laggard in the ways of masculine smartness. "Can you beat that? Gray! And such a delightful shade! I must get one like it to-morrow."

But the most succinct comment was that of a stableboy, who had sneaked up to get a glimpse of the rarity still calmly reposing on its owner's dignified head. What the stableboy said was: "Oh, mother-of-pearl!"

Why did the modest "bowler" set Long Island agog? Simply and singularly because, in case you don't know it, this especial type of cranium-covering has not been worn in America—at least at swanky sporting occasions—for years and years.

Here and there on Broadway you now and then can spy a specimen. Occasionally Fifth Avenue is treated to a sight of one. But since the days when George M. Cohan first popularized—and capitalized—the national bunting, gray derbies have been as rare as the dodo, and almost as unrecognized by male members of the elite.

Hence the astonishment that greeted the "bowler" at Westbury. Parisians' gray derbies in the Place Pigalle are as thick as poppies in the wheat fields of Piccardy. Londoners' gray derbies in Great Panton street are as thick as turbot in the Thames. America is America, and she is loath to change her customs. But she is not inhospitable.

America, in fact, welcomed the wearer of the "bowler" with salutations that ran the gamut from servants' salaams to cordial handclasps. For Colonel Balsan is a famous French sportsman, aeronaut, soldier, millionaire and prominent socially.

Sir Merrick Burrell (Front), and Lord Decies (Rear), Displaying Gray "Toppers," at the English Derby This Year.

King George V, of England, Wearing the Pearl-Colored "Bowler" Which He Popularized with Many of His Countrymen.

The fact of his being Continental, you see, explains the "bowler." But it would take more than a scant phrase to describe its owner. He is one of the most interesting figures in the social and financial life of the continent, and when he strolled out on the clean-clipped, green-velvety paddock near the polo field, eyes turned his way for other reasons than the pearl derby.

In this quiet man, with a close-cropped black moustache, metropolitan society saw not only the owner of the first private airplane in his native land, but the possessor of the best stocked racing stable in France; a daring balloonist; an intrepid army officer; a distinguished engineer, and the chap who caught the lovely Consuelo's heart on the rebound from her first husband, the Duke of Marlborough.

"There's Consuelo with him now," whispered one white-tressed matron, who, for all her statelines, was evidently thrilled. "She's hardly changed at all since the days of her father's and mother's separation."

"That's true," rejoined her companion. "She has been through a lot, yet she's as stunning and as chic as if she were a mere flapper." They were right, in spite of the fact that much water of gossip has flowed under society's bridges since 1895, when Consuelo, shy and slender, became the bride of Charles Richard John Spencer Churchill, ninth Duke of Marlborough, now married to Consuelo's one-time intimate friend, Gladys Deacon.

The wedded infelicity of the titled pairs their divorce, made absolute in May, 1921, and the Duchess's wedding to Colonel Balsan—these are episodes in the beautiful Consuelo's life history with which every one is familiar to the point of repletion.

These things, yawns society, are "old stuff." What is truly intriguing, now, is that Consuelo came back to "the States" with her fascinating second spouse, having arrived here in September; that Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, her mother, and brother, Harold Vanderbilt, met her at the pier, and that all four went to their country seat at Port Washington, Long Island, where Consuelo resumed the throne and regained the sceptre of her away over the elite as though she had been gone only an hour or two.

Mme. Balsan's visits to these shores are so infrequent that she might be expected to find herself "lost" in the hurly-burly of Manhattan. Not a bit of it! One undisputed social arbiter put the solution of the problem into pithy phrases. "You see," he remarked, "Consuelo has always had a certain queenliness about her, and the divorce mill and the creeping years haven't deprived her of it.

"Her friends in New York are legion—and deservedly so. Her taste in dress is exquisite. Witness the charming bottle-green gown with floating draperies and simple hat she wore at Westbury the other day. And her husband is a charming fellow, with true Gallic taste and tact. He has humor and quietude of manner, and I'm sure New York society will take him to his heart, if it hasn't done so already.

"But, unless he's succeeded in importing a fad, the next time he goes to a sports event I hope he'll do away with the pearl-gray derby. When in Rome——"

Medbury Says—

By John P. Medbury

A PROMINENT doctor says that medicine is all right but the best cure for any illness is a bowl of goldfish.

THE goldfish should be taken mentally and not internally.

IF you suffer from rheumatism, all you've got to do is to look at a bowl of goldfish for a couple of hours and your pains will be gone.

ONE man tried this on his cat, and in less than fifteen minutes the goldfish were gone.

THE idea in the cure is that once you realize how happy and contented the goldfish are, you will want to be the same way.

A NEW YORK guy did this and he absorbed so much contentment that when his wife came home she found him swimming around in the bath tub.

SHE was afraid to let the water out for fear he'd drown.

WHEN she spoke to him he never uttered a sound. He wanted to answer her but he didn't know what kind of a noise a goldfish would make.

HE thought that if he looked and acted enough like a goldfish that his wife would put him in a glass bowl and set him in the parlor.

YOU can imagine how it would startle a woman to discover the cat carrying her husband out into the back yard.

BUT a man will never realize what pain and suffering a goldfish has to go through until this hapens to him.

THIS mental stuff may be all right, but if you're so sick the doctor gives you up, how do you expect a gold fish to know what's the mater with you?

IF YOU ARE NOT A GOOD SALESMAN, HIRE ONE WHO IS.

If you are not accustomed to dealing as a salesman, if you feel that you are a poor bargain maker, if you dislike to dicker with men who will not do business in any other way, hire a real salesman to do it for you.

Some men are experts at driving bargains, but they are not proficient in other ways. They should be given that job for which they are fitted.

You may be superior in a certain line, but when it comes to making a trade, deciding on the terms of a contract, thereby making a bargain, you have not the necessary qualifications.

If another can get a better contract than you, why not let him do it?

If you are the sort that sets a lowest price first, do not become a dealer, for that is contrary to the principles of many business men.

You cannot make a success in "trade" unless you understand and follow the workings of salesmanship.

Many men plan on dickering—they set a price, prepared to shave it if it is required of them to complete a sale.
